VOL. 123, No. 61

VICTORIA, B.C., TUESDAY, MARCH 13, 1956—22 PAGES

TUESDAY, MARCH 20 FEDERAL BUDGET DATE

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Harris announced today he will present his annual budget to the Commons on Tuesday evening, March 20.
It will be the second budget presented by Mr. Harris since he took over the portfolio in 1954.

Gross Output Hits Record $26.6 Billion

National Production in 1955
Gained $2.5 Billion Over 1954

OTTAWA (BUP)—The gross national product—value of all goods and services produced by Canadians—hit a record $26,600,000,000 last year compared with $24,100,000,000 in 1954, the Bureau of Statistics said today.

"The year witnessed a sharp recovery from the mild contraction in economic activity which had characterized the period mid-1953 to mid-1954," the bureau said.

"The output of goods and services expanded rapidly in 1955 from a gradual rise in the latter part of 1954. The total for the year as a whole was about 10 per cent above 1954's."

"With final product prices relatively stable, this increase reflected almost entirely an expansion in the volume of production, which showed the largest gain of any single postwar year," the bureau said. "By the end of 1955, gross national product, seasonally adjusted, was running at a rate 11 per cent above the peak third quarter of 1953 in value terms."

"Several important expansion factors contributed to the $2,500,000,000 growth in output over the course of the year 1955. Of primary importance was the rise in personal expenditure on consumer goods and services, which led the advance in final purchases with a gain of $1,000,000,000."

"All segments of consumer outlays showed increases, with a major advance recorded in the durable goods group. Per capita consumption of durable goods was 40 per cent above the year 1949."

"Accompanying this advance in the consumer sector, residential construction outlays showed a sharp rise in 1955, with a gain of $300,000,000 or about 25 per cent. This increase reflected both the sharp rise in personal incomes as well as the ready availability of mortgage funds."

"Consumer outlays and housing expenditures together accounted for more than one-half of the increase in gross national expenditure in 1955."

"Exports of goods and services, which had declined in 1954, recovered strongly last year. They rose by $600,000,000 or 11 per cent."

"This strength in foreign demand for Canadian goods and services was associated with marked recovery of business activity in the United States and the rising level of activity in overseas countries," the bureau said.

Agricultural Exports Show Drop

The bulk of the gain in exports was in wood and wood products, iron and its products and non-ferrous metals. Declines occurred in the agricultural products group.

Business outlays for plant, machinery and equipment absorbed $300,000,000 of the $2,500,000,000 increase.

Additional expansionary factors in 1955 were government outlays for goods and services, which rose by $3,000,000,000; the larger grain crop, which contributed another $300,000,000 to the gain; and the swing in business inventories from liquidation in 1954 to net accumulation in 1955, amounting to some $400,000,000.

Accompanying the developments on the production side, both personal and business incomes continued to expand. They reflected for the most part advances in wages and salaries and in investment income, including corporation profits.

No Political Tie for CLC Says Telegram

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says the constitution to be submitted at the founding convention of the Canadian Labor Congress here next month will reflect a non-partisan political policy.

The newspaper says overcoming widely divergent political policies was the toughest obstacle to a merger between the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor.

The TLC has repeatedly rejected attempts to have it endorse the CCLC, as the CCLC does.

The Telegram says Point 7 of the new organization's constitution reads: "While preserving the independence of the labor movement from political control, to encourage workers to vote to exercise their full rights and responsibilities of citizenship, and to perform their rightful part in the political life of the federal, provincial and municipal governments."

Mollet Seeks Emergency Powers In Algeria

PARIS (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet's bill for sweeping emergency powers to quell the Algerian rebellion went to the French Senate today, backed by overwhelming approval in the National Assembly.

The Senate is expected to act either Wednesday or Thursday on the measure. It authorizes broad powers to impose martial law and to shake up the Algerian administration.

The party government's action to smother the nationalist rebellion came as a wave of Algerian troop desertions plagued the French in the North African territory.

7 Years for Ex-Cop

WINNIPEG (BUP)—Former St. Boniface police constable Anthony Jaworski was sentenced in Winnipeg court today to seven years in the penitentiary for the $1,200 holdup last Thursday of a residential Winnipeg branch of the Toronto-Dominion bank.

Bert Thomas Mystifies Doctors, New Cold-Water Tests Scheduled

TACOMA (AP)—The amazing body reactions of distance swimmer Bert Thomas still remained a partial mystery to doctors today following the former frogman's dip in frigid Puget Sound Monday.

Thomas, who earlier underwent two tests at the University of Washington, Monday took part in the third and final test to determine changes in his rate of metabolism.

Dr. Loren Carlson of the U of W medical school said today he and Dr. Arnold Heist were not able to determine Thomas's change in metabolism while swimming Monday.

Carlson said Thomas was forced to spend fairly long periods idle in the water Monday, and was never able to get into his "full stroke."

Adjustments of sensitive equipment had to be made while Thomas lay idle in the bitterly cold 41-degree water, Carlson said, and this may have hampered the former logger from hitting his full stroke.

Re-runs of the earlier tests are scheduled to begin in a week, Carlson said, and the final swimming test will probably be held after that.

The earlier tests disclosed Thomas's body temperature remained normal after he was immersed in a tank of 60-degree water for 30 minutes.

Thomas said he could also slow his own heart beat from, for instance, 77 a minute to 60 a minute in about 90 seconds.

RCMP Talked to Eversfield On Details of Sturdy Case

FIRST TEST OF STRENGTH

Top Democratic contenders for U.S. presidency, Estes Kefauver (left), and Adlai Stevenson, test their vote-drawing strength for the first time in today's New Hampshire primaries. First returns give Stevenson meagre edge although he is not officially candidate for control of New Hampshire delegation to national convention, nor did he campaign against official nominee, Kefauver. Division of New Hampshire Democratic delegation is predicted. President Eisenhower is shoo-in for Republican delegation control.

New Riots Sweep Cyprus, Greece

LONDON (UP)—Britain tonight demanded an explanation from the United States for its expression of sympathy to the Greek government over the critical Cyprus question.

(Times News Service)

British troops today went into action at Nicosia, Cyprus, with clubs swinging against demonstrators as new strikes spread through the Mediterranean island in protest against the banishment of Archbishop Makarios. At Athens, Greece, 50 civilians and 11 policemen were injured in fierce new anti-British demonstrations.

WIRE BRIEFS

100 Grandchildren

SYDNEY MINES, N.S. (CP)—When a baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Mark Carey Monday night, Mrs. Robert Carey became a grandmother for the 100th time. Mrs. Carey, 72, has nine sons and nine daughters, all married. Eighty-seven grandchildren are living.

At London, Prime Minister Eden today told his cabinet that he will make a personal defence of his Cyprus policy in a major parliamentary debate Wednesday.

Eden's chief adversary in the debate will be Aneurin Bevan, the Labor party's most controversial figure.

On Cyprus, British troops cleared Metaxas Square in Nicosia, where one of the largest riots took place. Two other charges were made outside the Phanomeni cathedral, where youths were stoning army vehicles, and near the Olympiakos Greek Club, where troops were stationed.

Several arrests were made. Greek Cypriot workers were idle again today for the third time since the deportation Friday of the Greek Orthodox churchman, leader of the movement for union of Cyprus with Greece.

A 17-year-old Greek Cypriot student was shot by a British sentry Monday when he ignored a challenge to halt and died in hospital from his wounds.

At Washington, a state department spokesman said the United States has suggested to Britain that she find some way of resuming negotiations with Cypriot leaders.

The Egyptian radio, long active in promoting strife in North Africa and the Middle East, today began relaying jammed Greek broadcasts to the anti-British terrorists on Cyprus.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd arrived here today on the last leg of a Middle East tour.

Lloyd's visit coincided with reports in Jerusalem that Israel may open a "direct peace offensive" on the Arab states in hopes of preventing a Middle East war.

Coward Quits U.K. LONDON (AP)—Noel Coward, 56, actor, author, producer and composer, is giving up his native England for the warm climes of Bermuda and Jamaica, his personal representative said tonight.

Eisenhower Atom Program Gets Under Way

'Heavy Water' Shipments Start

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today announced the first shipment abroad of heavy water under President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program.

The AEC said it has approved the sale of 129 tons of heavy water to six nations and that 16 tons of this had been shipped—11 tons to Britain and five to France. The sales price was $28 a pound, AEC said.

Heavy water is used in several types of reactors, or atomic furnaces, to slow the speed of neutrons emitted in splitting of atoms of the fissionable U-235.

These total amounts were approved for sale: United Kingdom 50 tons, France 30, India 21, Australia 11, Italy 10, Switzerland up to seven.

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters)—U.S. state secretary John Foster Dulles and Thailand's foreign minister, Prince Wan Waihayakon today signed an agreement for U.S. aid to Thailand in the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The agreement covered co-operation in civilian uses of atomic energy and the establishment of an experimental atomic reactor in Thailand. Dulles said at the signing ceremony that Thailand and the United States had "forged yet another link in their partnership for peace for human well-being."

Prince Wan said "we are deeply grateful for this assistance, and gladly accept it in the spirit in which it is offered, for we know that no sinister motive lies behind it."

Could Take Europe

OTTAWA (BUP)—Russia could probably over-run western Europe now but could not carry a sustained war to the North American continent, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme allied commander in Europe, told a news conference here today.

Libel Suit Throttles Comment Says Paper

VANCOUVER—The Sun says in an editorial today: "News of what may be the biggest scandal in B.C.'s recent political history is bottled up by a Supreme Court slander writ taken out by R. E. Sommers, M.L.A., ex-minister of lands and forests in the B.C. government."

"This government declines to break the bottle and submit its contents to investigation by a royal commission. But it has permitted Mr. Sommers to resign his cabinet portfolio. When or whether the contents will be aired is left up to him. His next move, if any, is to set down for trial his slander suit against David Sturdy."

"In the meantime, newspapers are barred from publishing documents on file at the courthouse containing Mr. Sturdy's defence. In them Mr. Sturdy, the Vancouver lawyer who tried unsuccessfully to submit evidence before the Sloan commission, pleads that he had qualified privilege to appear there and that his allegations are true."

KNOW STORY "All or most of the people's elected representatives in the Legislature had seen Mr. Sturdy's statement of defence. Several members threatened to read it in the House, but the deputy speaker ruled it out of order. If it had been read there, every newspaper in B.C. would have been free to publish the text verbatim."

"Failing that, newspapers are bound by the legal rule that the public have no right to any information on private suits till they come up for public hearing or action in open court."

"Mr. Bonner, chief law officer of the crown in B.C., is deeply involved on several grounds... The attorney-general is apparently content to regard the case as a 'private suit' although it involves the conduct of public business by a cabinet minister..."

BIG QUESTION "But the big question remains: Why did Mr. Sommers resign? He didn't have to do that before suing for slander... He could have asked for a royal commission to review his acts, subpoena witnesses and expose the alleged conspiracy against him. Instead, he chose to seek damages for what had already been said. He left the cabinet. The conspiracy charge is left to dangle in mid-air."

"The Sun criticizes Premier Bennett for his 'aloof attitude,' and says: 'His apparent intent was to minimize the gravity of the situation which eventually drove one of his ministers out of office.'"

The Sun added: "And as recently as yesterday (Monday) the premier said he had given no consideration to appointing a judicial inquiry. There is every indication that he intends to brazen it out..."

Closing its editorial, The Sun added: "This chronicle of the Sommers-Sturdy case, and its aftermath to date, is incomplete and sketchy in spots. It is intended only as a point of departure for the reader in events which may come later."

"It also explains the legal principle by which points of increasing common street talk are not published in B.C. newspapers although they have been alluded to in the legislature."

Trip to California Disclosed; Demands For Probe Renewed

RCMP Inspector W. J. Butler paid a flying visit to California to interview the "mystery witness" in the Sommers-Sturdy case, the Times learned today.

Inspector Butler spent two days discussing the Sturdy charges with former Vancouver accountant Charles Eversfield, who is now living in the U.S.

This development in the Sturdy-Sommers controversy was disclosed following renewed demands by Liberal Leader Arthur Laing and retiring CCF Leader Arnold Webster for a full-scale public judicial inquiry into the case.

Mr. Eversfield has been described as the informant, who handed the so-called Sturdy evidence over to Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy.

Inspector Butler was ordered into the case by Attorney-General Robert Bonner, after a storm of opposition protest at Bonner's refusal to follow up on the charges.

Mr. Eversfield met with the Attorney-General and Mr. Sturdy on Dec. 7, and presented Mr. Bonner with a sworn declaration concerning Mr. Sommers.

The Attorney-General refused Mr. Sturdy's request to order a Royal Commission of inquiry to investigate the charges made in the sworn declaration.

In a writ to Mr. Sturdy, the Attorney-General said the allegations contained in the declaration "fill me with profound skepticism," particularly in view of the Vancouver Centre by-election pending at that time.

Inspector Butler flew both to and from California. His visit was clothed in official secrecy. RCMP officials have declined all comment on the case.

It is not known what aspects of the issue were discussed by the inspector and Mr. Eversfield.

'War of Nerves' Charged Premier

Meanwhile Liberal Leader Laing and Mr. Webster Monday repeated their demands for a judicial inquiry, following Premier Bennett's "no comment" statement after he returned from Ottawa.

Mr. Webster said the charges against Mr. Sommers, and Mr. Sommers' counter-charges that he was the object of an attack backed by a "wealthy-financed conspiracy," must "be fully aired at a judicial inquiry."

Mr. Laing said the premier "is waging a war of nerves." "In his present predicament, his only responsibility is to clear his government of charges made against it," said Mr. Laing.

In a speech to the Chilliwack Riding Liberal Association, the Liberal leader traced the entire Sturdy-Sommers controversy from the Dec. 7 meeting in the attorney-general's office.

"The Attorney-General, confronted with a statutory declaration on December 7, consulted Sommers, and then wired Sturdy that he was full of skepticism and disbelief," said Mr. Laing.

"The charges might have been under cover yet had Sturdy not gone before the Sloan Commission and made them public."

Collected $848 for Trip East

Mr. Laing said that from a study of the public accounts for the period in which the trip was made, "denied us during the session by Premier Bennett, but since studied, we find the minister collected $348.21 in expenses for a trip to eastern Canada in the same period."

Mr. Laing said Mr. Sommers' statement of resignation "contained a thoroughly venomous, wicked, and entirely unsupported attack upon the Liberal party, sections of the forest industry, and upon the press."

This referred to a charge by Mr. Sommers that a Liberal and Victoria Times-backed conspiracy was working to discredit him as minister, and to destroy government forest legislation.

He said the conspiracy was backed by "cut and get out" loggers.

"All the time the opposition was pressing for one thing only," said Mr. Laing. "The setting up of a judicial investigation to prove or disprove the charges."

He said the charges against Mr. Sommers "constitute the most serious attack upon the integrity of a government in the history of this province."

"The premier, every member of his cabinet, and every Social Credit member of the legislature must share the responsibility of denying the public the right to have the facts and have them quickly," Mr. Laing told the meeting.

"Every reputable businessman will join in our insistence," for a full inquiry, he said.

"Only a judicial inquiry will suffice," he said. "Premier Bennett, if he places any value upon his personal integrity let alone that of his government, must act at once."

H. said that "over this affair, never have we had such conclusive proof of the imperious necessity of a free press."

PRAYER FOR TODAY LORD, teach us that the real test of strength is not in the victory, but in bearing the burden, in fighting the good fight. In Thy work is our real test, and we thank Thee for the power to endure and the faith that bears us up, through Jesus Christ, Amen.

Ontario Quits Tax Pact On Corporation Imposts

SASKATCHEWAN WANTS NO PART IN HANGINGS

REGINA (CP)—Welfare Minister J. H. Sturdy of Saskatchewan said Monday he is hopeful that Canada soon will abolish the death penalty.

Hanging, he said, is "damaging to any corrections program." If it was to be continued, it should be carried out in some small centre away from the jails and penitentiaries.

Mr. Sturdy, speaking in the legislature budget debate, said that on Feb. 28 he wrote Justice Minister Garson asking that Saskatchewan "be relieved of carrying out the death penalty."

Anti-Hanging Law Wins New U.K. Test

LONDON (Reuters)—Supporters of a bill to suspend and ultimately abolish the death penalty for murder in Britain were confident today that it will get final approval in the House of Commons, despite reduced support shown in the House Monday night.

The backers of the "no hanging" bill are further confident that the bill will ultimately become law although they fear determined opposition in the House of Lords.

The House of Commons Monday night gave approval in principle to a bill providing for the suspension of the death penalty, and for its complete abolition unless reintroduced within 10 years at the desire of both Houses of Parliament.

This qualification is designed as an escape clause should abolition bring about an increase in murders during the 10 years. In addition wartime executions for spying or treason are not covered by the bill.

The House gave the bill its second reading after an amendment to reject it had been defeated by 286 votes to 262.

A tense, packed House received quietly the news that the margin against the death penalty had dropped to 24 from majorities of 31 and 46 last month, when members voted to change the law on capital punishment.

Sydney Silverman, the Labour member who introduced the bill privately, expressed pleasure at the result "having regard to all the pressures that have been brought to bear during the past week."

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario will move back into the field of direct corporation tax when the present tax-rental agreement with the federal government expires March 31, 1957, Premier Frost said Monday.

He told the Ontario legislature the move will not necessarily cost corporations more, because the provincial tax can be deducted from taxes paid to the federal treasury.

He told reporters later it will mean about $40,000,000 to Ontario in the first year.

Ontario also would continue to collect its own succession duties, and would rent its personal income taxes to the Dominion.

He described the federal formula to replace the present tax-rental scheme as "wrong and unjust," and said he will keep negotiating for a better deal.

The province would gain in the corporation taxes through savings in collections. The federal government's new plan would allow provinces to impose direct corporation taxes of up to nine per cent of the total paid Ottawa.

Federal authorities would collect this sum and return it to the provinces, but would charge two per cent for the collection. The premier said Ontario can collect its own for only one-half of one per cent.

OTTAWA (CP)—No province got any new concession from the federal government at Friday's federal-provincial fiscal conference, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Monday in Commons.

No Political Career Says Lt.-Gen. Simonds

OTTAWA (CP)—Lieut.-Gen. Guy Simonds, retired chief of the army general staff, said Monday night he has "no political ambitions of any kind whatsoever."

He was addressing the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Legion in one of a recent series of speeches advocating immediate national registration and national selective service. He plans to make more speeches on the same subject in western Canada next month.

Vandals Wreck New Kitimat Homes

KITIMAT (CP)—Damage caused by vandals and frost has delayed the opening of a bungalow housing unit in Kitimat.

A company official said the bungalows, which had been passed by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and municipal inspectors, are unfit for occupancy because of smashed doors, broken windows and missing plumbing fixtures.

"More than 50 toilets have been stolen and the same number of windows have been broken," the spokesman said.

Frost has caused cracks in walls where the pre-fabricated units have been joined.

Frost depth in the area averaged three feet and foundations of the bungalows have lowered in some cases.

Municipal council has met in committee to study the problem.

COULD 'TELL PLENTY,' EX-CHIEF WARNS

Heaving Sacks of Fertilizer Mulligan Denies Taking Graft

VANCOUVER (CP)—Radio station CKWX says in a news broadcast that former police chief Walter Mulligan has denied accepting bribes or that he told anyone he had taken $38,000 from gamblers.

The station says it interviewed Mr. Mulligan at Monrovia, near Los Angeles, where the former chief works for a floral nursery.

Mr. Mulligan and former detective sergeant Len Cuthbert were accused of taking bribes while police officers, in a report by R. H. Tupper which followed a six-month royal commission.

The report was released last month. In it Mr. Tupper said he believed the testimony of Helen Douglas, a witness who said she had had a five-year affair with the former chief and that Mr. Mulligan told her he had received $38,000 from gamblers.

Interviewed at the nursery farm, a few miles from the Santa Anita race track, Mulligan told the radio station:

"If, as they claim, I made money from graft, let me tell you... I wouldn't be working here heaving sacks of fertilizer around. I'd be enjoying myself at the races."

Mr. Mulligan admitted having "been involved" with Miss Douglas, "but her story about my having taken $38,000 from gamblers is fantastic."

He said he would await the finding of a three-man committee of lawyers appointed by Attorney-General Robert Bonner to see what action may be taken on the basis of the Tupper report.

"If I ever do open up," the station quoted Mr. Mulligan, "I'll have plenty to tell them... that many people would never expect to hear." He declined to elaborate.

City Men, Blizzard-Trapped, Trek 12 Miles to Safety

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. (BUP)—Five railway and government officials and a Victoria radio station employee stranded in British Columbia's rugged north country trekked 12 miles through a blizzard to safety.

The men were stranded when their snowmobile broke down on a trip back to their Pine River camp. They were deputy B.C. Railway Minister J. Broadbent, Chief Engineer B. C. Lewall and Cyril Wightman, L. King, R. Morley, also of the PGE, and Dick Batey of a Victoria radio station.

A message was sent through

Port St. John to the RCMP at Dawson Creek for help.

RCMP officials at Dawson Creek are still awaiting word from a six-man rescue party trying to help a 34-year-old trapper crippled with back injuries for almost two weeks.

The party was sighted late Monday by an aircraft but it was not known if it had reached trapper John Terry's cabin or not.

Curbs, Gutters, Sewers Approved By Esquimalt

Public works projects, with an estimated total value of $16,000 passed over Esquimalt council table Monday night.

First readings were given to three by-laws totalling $8,000 to put curb and gutter on Lamson Place, a sewer project on Hadfield and sidewalks on Dunsmuir.

Six local improvement petitions, all for curb and gutter, were approved, providing sufficient signatures for one are obtained soon.

If carried out, these streets will benefit: Lyall, both sides Fraser to Admirals and south side to Heald; Constance, both sides Lyall south; South Joffre, both sides (if signatures are obtained); Heald, both sides Lyall to South Joffre; Swinford, both sides Lyall to Heald.

Opposition Urges Farm Price Parity

(From Times News Services)

The problem of how to keep people down on the farm after they've seen the bright city lights was expected to keynote/debate today.

Farmer-members complained that mounting costs of production, and falling farm prices, were forcing people off the land and into urban life.

Opposition members called unanimously for a system of parity prices for agriculture, to keep the farmers' returns for their crops in line with the cost of goods and services they must buy in order to produce food for the nation.

John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member for Prince Albert, Sask., opened a two-way want-of-confidence motion asking the government for legislation on a parity system this session.

CCF and Social Credit parties lined up in support, with Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) adding an amendment to stipulate that the system should provide farmers with a fair share of national income.

No government member spoke on the issue, which Fred S. Zaplitny (CCF-Dauphin) predicted will be a major one in the next federal election.

Mr. Diefenbaker said there is a "ruthless and unrelenting squeeze" between falling farm prices and rising production costs. Farm income was half that of 1951. Unless action was taken, Canadian agriculture was headed for bankruptcy.

Mr. Argue said the government has turned its back on the 1943 commitment by the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King that post-war farm prices would bear a fair relationship to costs.

"The farmers today are going broke under the policies of the Liberal government," he said. Farmers were leaving the land and agriculture in all 10 provinces was being wrecked.

Through government aid, farm surpluses should be distributed to hungry people in Canada and elsewhere.

Victor Quelch, Social Credit farm spokesman, suggested a base period for a parity price system: 1943-44-45.

He said the few existing federal farm price supports are below parity. Grains should be covered by the Agricultural Prices Support Act. If this were done wheat would bring $2.27 a bushel instead of $1.72. E.C. McCullough (CCF-Moose Mountain) said parity prices would prevent a downward spiral of farm prices. In 1910 the purchasing power of a bushel of wheat was $1.29. Now it was 61 cents.

It was wrong to say parity prices would mean higher consumer prices. Wheat represented only a fraction of the cost of a loaf of bread. The same situation applied to many other farm goods processed before being sold to consumers.

Facing Threat From Russia

A. M. Nicholson (CCF-Mackenzie) said Canadian grain growers face a threat from Russia, which is putting an additional 27,000,000 acres into production. And some of Canada's former wheat customers now were subsidizing domestic wheat production. France had become a big wheat exporter, with each bushel exported bearing a $1.61 subsidy.

Canada should not fear the world subsidy. Tariffs were a subsidy to Canadian industry which had resulted in the channeling of wealth into Ontario and Quebec from every other province since Confederation.

The federal butter price support of 58 cents a pound is expected to be continued unchanged, it was learned Monday. The present government program of buying surplus butter, which operates on a year-to-year basis, ends May 1, but officials said an announcement on its future will be made before then.

An estimated $170,000,000 more was spent on education in Canada last year than three years before.

In a return tabled Monday for A. M. Nicholson (CCF, Mackenzie), the trade department said an estimated $750,000,000 was spent on formal education in 1955.

The latest complete statistics are for 1952. That year $381,000,000 was spent on formal learning—$40.26 per capita.

British Columbia spent the most in 1952 on a per capita basis—$55.50.

The post office department, through its branches across the country, was victim of 66 robberies between last April 1 and the end of January.

The robberies involved $30,986 in cash, $94,528 in postage stamps and $64,894 in unemployment insurance stamps, the department said Monday in replying to a question of William Hamilton (PC, Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace).

The 66 robberies involved actual loss to the post office. In

Indians Fight Income Taxes

Mainland Decision Hailed As Victory for Treaty Natives

An Indian victory war cry is ringing across the length and breadth of Vancouver Island over the failure of the Federal Income Tax Department to win its court case against an Indian fisherman for failing to file an income tax return.

Francis Point, a Musqueam Point reserve Indian, defeated trained lawyers on the income tax case in Richmond last week mainly on the grounds of "no taxation without representation."

Percy Ross, president of the Vancouver Island Indian Association, said today it was the most important court case Indians have won since Confederation.

"Our rights have been kicked around ever since the British left Canada," he said. "The Canadian government over a period of years has slowly taken away our ancient rights."

SPECIAL PARLEY

Mr. Ross, who served as chief of the Songhees clan for 15 years, said a special meeting of the association will be held on the Indian reservation Sunday to discuss the court's decision. Chiefs and representatives of various Island bands will be present, he said.

The court decision was handed down by Magistrate R. C. Palmer, who dismissed the charge because "lower courts have no guidance in these cases."

The magistrate also ruled that the Indian proved he lived on the reserve and thus had the rights of an enfranchised Indian.

Andy Paul, "amateur lawyer" and champion of Indian rights, defended the Indian fishermen in court.

Mr. Paul, 64-year-old president of the North American Indian Brotherhood, argued the federal government is trustee of its wards (the Indians) and it can't ask its wards to pay tribute in the form of income or any other tax.

"Non-franchised Indians haven't representation and the American Revolution started over taxation without representation," he argued.

Meanwhile, income tax officials indicated they will appeal the court's decision before the B.C. Court of Appeal.

Chief Arthur Albany of the Songhees band said B.C. Indians have felt "very strongly against paying income taxes for fishing."

"The right to fish and hunt anywhere in B.C. has always been ours," he said. "I don't know how the government got around taxing us for fishing." Income tax officials said the tax only applied to Indians working outside the reservation.

But Chief Albany felt this should not apply to fishing, as this is their ancient right.

Fire Destroys RCMP Office At Port Hardy

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the RCMP office at Port Hardy Saturday, RCMP officials said here today.

The frame building, sheeted with tin, was a total loss. A former customs office, it served as an office only for the one constable stationed at the port. Furniture and records also were destroyed.

P.O. THIEF REMANDED FOR SENTENCE

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Keith MacDonald pleaded guilty here Monday to theft of $44,500 from the Britannia Beach, B.C., post office and was remanded to the end of the assizes for sentence.

MacDonald was living at Horning Mills, Ont., as John L. Larson when he was arrested more than a month ago. He led officers to $25,000 buried in the frozen ground under the small farm home where he was living.

He was assistant postmaster at the tiny mining town 50 miles north of here when the theft occurred Dec. 6, 1954.

Court Upholds $30,000 Awards Against Flash

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two judgments, totaling $30,000 against the Toronto tabloid Flash, its publishers and distributors, were upheld in British Columbia Supreme Court here Monday.

The judgments were obtained in Prince Rupert, B.C., by Hugo Krauppner and Ideal Cleaners and Laundry, Ltd., over a letter to the editor.

Damages were assessed last October after default judgments had been entered against all defendants. Louis Ruby, Howard Somerville and John Blunt Publications, Ltd., failed to obey a court order that they produce documents required in the action. Colonial Distributors, Ltd., a fourth defendant, failed to enter a defence.

Fire Victim Set Himself Alight Three Times Daily, Says Widow

DUNCAN—Enoch Percival Phillip, 67, who died of burns suffered Friday morning, sometimes set fire to himself two or three times a day, his widow, Mrs. Alice Phillip, said Monday night at an inquest into his death.

The former cycle shop operator died in King's Daughters' Hospital 24 hours after a dropped cigaret ignited papers on the floor around his wheelchair.

Verdict was accidental death. Mrs. Phillip said her husband kept a bicycle horn at his side to call her in case of emergency, since he set fire to himself about six times a week.

"He sounded the horn once and I did not hurry to answer it," she said. "Sometime later he called, and when I was coming down the stairs I smelled smoke and ran to his room and got him out of the flames. reach," she said. "It had been agreed that if he needed me in a hurry he would sound the horn three times."

How to Get More Money

IF THE BRITISH COLUMBIA Government wants more revenues than its present tax rates will produce it must raise those rates. That is the meaning of the failure of Mr. Bennett's latest mission to Ottawa. The Federal Government has made the provinces a financial offer—a generous and costly offer—and will not expand it.

To implement the formula known as Plan C the Federal Government will pay the provinces about $108 millions a year more than it is paying them under the existing tax agreement. This money comes from all the taxpayers of Canada, including those of British Columbia. If more is to be paid to the provinces, the taxpayers must provide it. The provincial governments, of course, demand more money. They will always demand more money. But it is to be doubted that the federal taxpayers (who live in the provinces) are willing to supply more money.

As the Federal Government's finances stand today there is little prospect of any reduction in federal taxes. The national treasury must find over a hundred millions extra for the provinces. It is committed to a national hospital insurance scheme likely to cost some $300 millions a year. It must undertake during the next year or two, if the insurance scheme goes through, increased expenditures not far short of half a billion dollars—an increase in the budget of nearly one-eighth.

The increase is likely to be more than that, not long hence, since all the fixed costs of national government—old age pensions, children's allowances, and so on—are steadily and automatically rising. As the nation's wealth and revenues increase there may be a margin for small tax reductions later on, but for the visible future we have elected to forego any chance of any real relief.

Under these conditions no Federal Government in its senses could afford a more generous offer to the provinces than that now proposed. And as far as British Columbia is concerned, the Bennett Government probably has more revenue per capita than any provincial government in Canadian history, is spending more than any and can even afford a gigantic capital expenditure on roads out of current revenue. Its position is lush.

However, if Mr. Bennett is not satisfied, if he must spend still more, he can raise taxes as he pleases. The federal policy does not limit the province's taxes on income, corporation profits or estates. It provides merely that the provincial taxpayer will be exempted, within a fixed amount, from corresponding federal taxes.

If the Provincial Government wishes to go beyond these limits there is nothing to prevent it. But then, of course, the British Columbia taxpayer will pay double taxes on the same income, over the exemption level.

Mr. Bennett will be very unwise to impose double taxation. Already British Columbians pay more taxes than any other Canadians to support the Provincial Government's gigantic expenditures. We cannot think they desire to pay still more. Surely Mr. Bennett should be satisfied with his record-breaking revenues and incomparable spending.

When at last he finds a Federal Government determined to defend its treasury—that is to say the nation's taxpayers—from larger burdens he should abandon his bootless agitation and get on with his own business. It is satisfactory to note from his most recent statement that this is what Mr. Bennett intends to do.

A Bomb on London

THE HOME OFFICE RECENTLY told the British public exactly what it could expect to happen if a hydrogen bomb dropped in the centre of London. Many Canadians, familiar with the geography of London and its surroundings, will understand what the Home Office means when it says:

"The fireball of the bomb would measure four miles across, and everything within four miles of the centre of the fireball would be totally destroyed, much of it turned into dust and vapor and sucked up in the mushrooming cloud."

"The great part of the County of London would be damaged beyond repair. The heat of the explosion would start a ring of fires that might extend for 10 miles far into the suburbs."

"People 16 miles away could be blistered by the heat and the buildings round them severely damaged by the blast. Windows would be broken and tiles shaken in Henley and Uxbridge, 24 miles from the centre of the explosion."

"The radio-active dust sucked up in the blast and the fireball would float for 200 miles or more downwind far beyond sight or sound of the explosion, falling all the while and poisoning everything that it touched. Contamination from a bomb on Liverpool could almost reach the Thames estuary and vice versa."

All these calculations relate to a hydrogen bomb equal to 50,000,000 tons of T.N.T. Science can build much bigger bombs than that.

Our Hundredth Birthday

MR. STANLEY KNOWLES, THE able C.C.F. member of Parliament for Winnipeg North Centre, is prodding the Government to prepare for Canada's hundredth birthday. That anniversary is not so very far off—only eleven years. On July 1, 1967, the nation will be a century old.

A socialist and an altruist, Mr. Knowles says he will not be satisfied to see the centenary celebrated with mere "fireworks and speeches" as the dawn of Confederation was celebrated on July 1, 1867.

Mr. Knowles wants much more than that—nothing less than "the economic and social development of this country on a vast scale, including housing, slum clearance, conservation, irrigation and power projects, the building of hospitals, assistance to municipal projects, highway construction, the elimination of grade crossings, other public works, and the strengthening of the economy in every section of the country."

To this end Mr. Knowles urges the Government to set up a centenary planning committee right away. He seems to forget that at the moment the Gordon Commission is studying these very problems in the most exhaustive fashion with the advice of the best minds in government, business, the labor movement and education.

Mr. Knowles appears also unimpressed by the gigantic, almost incredible economic growth of the nation, now moving so fast that all our resources of materials, machinery and manpower will be strained to the limit, perhaps beyond the limit, before the present year is out.

Mr. Knowles will reply, no doubt, that all this growth, while huge in size and sweep, is not planned and organized as socialism would plan and organize it. But in no country has socialism yet matched the achievements of our Canadian system which, for all its mistakes, has given us not only wealth but personal freedom.

If we are making mistakes, to be paid for in the future, the Gordon Commission should be able to identify them better than Mr. Knowles' proposed committee. The Government presumably will await the Gordon report before considering the questions Mr. Knowles has in mind. But it is not too early for it to begin to consider, apart from these things, a celebration worthy of our hundredth birthday.

Symbol of What?

IN THIS WEEK'S EDITION OF Sports Illustrated is a dramatized story on Wes Santee and the Columbian Mile, usually the feature race in the Knights of Columbus annual indoor track and field meet at Madison Square Garden.

Mr. Santee, the University of Kansas graduate now a member of the United States Marines, had been suspended up to the day of the race for allegedly taking too much expense money on other trips. A court injunction allowed him to run that day, but because of his uncertain status, several top-notch performers withdrew from that race and ran a special mile later in the program.

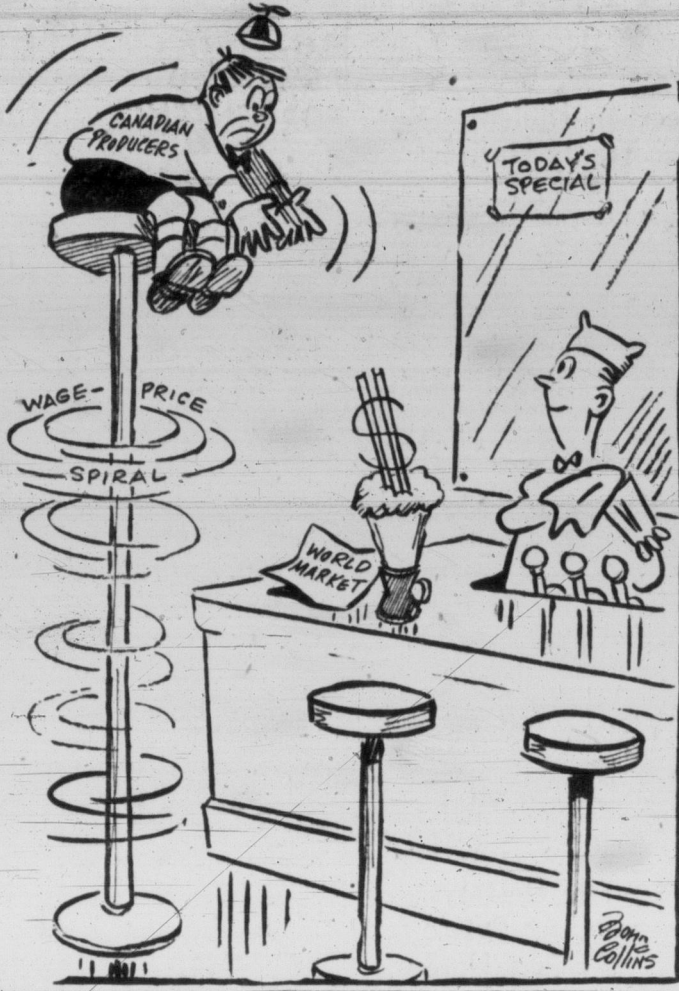

Mr. Santee, who has talked more about a four-minute mile than probably any other athlete—and has yet to run it—won the Columbian race in four minutes 13.8 seconds, two seconds slower than the special mile run later.

That is beside the point. But what is important is the concluding sentences of the Sports Illustrated story: "For the crowd at the Garden and to millions of others, Wes Santee, right or wrong, had become a symbol. . . What amateur sport desperately needs to decide is exactly what Wes Santee is a symbol of."

Which is sage comment. And if the issue involves sportsmanship, amateurism or performance in the mile, he public might do well to use as yardsticks for its thinking such men as Dr. Roger Bannister, John Landy and Chris Chataway. They, too, are symbols, but of characteristics which Mr. Santee may not represent.

Getting Out of Reach

NOTES FROM OTTAWA By VICTOR MACKIE

As Far as It Will Go

PROVINCIAL premiers went through the motions at the federal-provincial conference last week. They all would have liked a larger share of the Canadian tax dollar, but the majority were aware that the Federal Government had gone as far as it would go in providing for payments to the provincial treasuries.

Prime Minister St. Laurent and his colleagues were convinced that there was a very substantial recognition of fiscal need of the provinces involved in the equalization payments and in the high level of returns in the tax fields which Ottawa was prepared to guarantee to the provincial governments.

The Prime Minister listened patiently as each premier in turn made his province submission. Then he said that the Federal Government's responsibilities and commitments would not permit any increase in the basic offer. That was that. The conference adjourned with each province left to make up its mind whether it will accept or reject the federal offer.

As the premiers filed into the Railway Committee room in the Parliament Buildings centre block for the federal-provincial conference, reporters stopped Prime Minister St. Laurent and asked him to give an estimate of how long the meetings would continue. Shrugging his shoulders in a typical gesture the Prime Minister said ruefully, "Why ask me? I am not the boss." Then he added, "The conference is its own master. They will decide in there when to adjourn."

UNUSUAL MPs are tired of hearing of the trials and tribulations of the prairie wheat producer. It came as a bit of a shock the other day when a member from Kootenay rose in his place on the orders of the day and said he wished to ask a question on behalf of the wheat producers of British Columbia.

Increasingly of late Mr. Speaker Beaudin has had to speak sharply to members who have proceeded to argue with him over rulings he has made. During the debate on bank loans for wheat farmers he encountered difficulties in convincing members in the opposition that they were out of order. Finally when G. H. Castleden, the CCF member for Yorkton, Saskatchewan, persisted in straying from the points under discussion Mr. Speaker threatened to "name" the member.

Mr. Speaker only resorts to "naming" a member when that member has flagrantly refused to abide by requests from the chair or declines to accept Mr. Speaker's rulings. Last occasion in the Canadian Commons when a Speaker "named" a member was in 1944. An independent member persisted in interrupting another member who was speaking during a debate. The Independent was "named" while the member being interrupted was escorted from the Commons chamber and barred from it for seven days.

For the moderate Northerners it is impossible to accept the gradualism that Mr. Faulkner advises if at the same time they have to acquiesce in what happened at Alabama University. To do so would er's rulings. Last occasion in the Canadian Commons when a Speaker "named" a member was in 1944. An independent member persisted in interrupting another member who was speaking during a debate. The Independent was "named" while the member being interrupted was escorted from the Commons chamber and barred from it for seven days.

Soon the Government—Mr. Howe again—will introduce its gas pipeline legislation into the House. This time according to Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) the CCF plans a "real filibuster". They will not be alone. The Progressive Conservatives have determined to debate the measure at length in an effort to persuade the administration to withdraw the bill. It seems that Mr. Howe is in for another filibuster. His colleagues hope that his temper will hold out.

With flood conditions again building up in the west the Federal Government is disappointed that prairie governments have not made use of the Canada Water Conservation Assistance Act to carry out flood control projects. Under that act the cost of such projects is split three ways, between the federal and provincial governments and the municipalities.

The provincial governments have fallen into the habit of asking Ottawa to do the work through its PFRA organization and to foot a major portion of the bill. In future the Federal Government would like to see greater use made of its Water Conservation Assistance legislation.

It may be that Ottawa will have to amend the act to make its financial contribution more generous. There are indications that the Federal Government might be prepared to do just that, providing it could be assured the provinces would then make use of the act.

President Eisenhower's invitation to Prime Minister St. Laurent and Mexico's President Cortines to travel to Washington for a conference is simply the outcome of the American president's desire that the three should become better acquainted with each other's viewpoints on mutual problems. Word reaching Canada's capital from Washington is that there is no hidden purpose behind the meeting. A Toronto newspaperman's "pure speculation" that the meeting might result in Mexican's being used to help the DEW line was greeted with loud laughter here.

Faulkner and Segregation

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

LIFE magazine publishes a letter addressed to the people of the northern states by William Faulkner, the eminent novelist.

M. Faulkner is a native of Mississippi. He speaks as a Southerner—who not only believes in "the simple incontrovertible immorality of discrimination by race" but also that this discrimination is an evil which will be cured eventually by the Southerners themselves. The point of this letter is to warn Northerners that discrimination will not be cured, if legal coercion is used to enforce the Supreme Court's decision.

Lippmann

Mr. Faulkner, as a Southerner who is opposed in principle both to segregation and to enforced integration, regards his position as being in the "middle." He sees himself as pressed from two sides between the Citizens' Councils on the one hand, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People on the other. He is between those who would uphold "white supremacy" by nullification of the Supreme Court's decision and those who would use the Federal power to abolish segregation. Where, he asks, will Southerners like himself go if federal enforcement is attempted? They will go, so he says in effect, with the resistance of the Citizens' Councils.

AVOID PRESSURE

The burden of Mr. Faulkner's plea is that the Northerners should not now press for federal enforcement. For this would make it impossible for Southerners like himself to work for the gradual acceptance of integration.

To this there is something which must be said for the Northerners who will understand and sympathize with Mr. Faulkner's argument. These Northerners include the President and Gov. Stevenson, and they are quite surely a majority today. But their position is threatened by the Southern Extremists who not only proclaim the doctrine of nullification but, as in the Lucy case in Alabama, connive at ob violence.

For the moderate Northerners it is impossible to accept the gradualism that Mr. Faulkner advises if at the same time they have to acquiesce in what happened at Alabama University. To do so would be to surrender two elementary principles. One is, as Mr. Faulkner defines it, that discrimination by race is immoral. The other is that the laws of the Union bind all who live within the Union. To acquiesce and not to protest would make the middle position unprincipled and in the end untenable.

CREATING EXTREMES

The situation is one in which all the strong passions tend to run to the two irreconcilable extremes—towards the fierce defence in the deep South of the white way of life, towards a militant demand by the Negroes and their friends for the vindication of their indubitable human rights.

There is little reason to believe that the issue can now be dealt with in the South as it was after the Civil War—by nullification with the assent of the North. There is a new dynamic factor in the situation today—the rise of the American Negro to a position of very considerable economic and political power. We have seen the first beginnings of what this may bring in the boycott in Montgomery. There the Negro population have practiced passive resistance—the classic tactic of weak and subject peoples. There is every reason to suppose that uncompromising and militant resistance by the Citizens' Councils in the deep South will—if it closes the door to gradual reform—cause the Montgomery example to spread.

LOOKING FOR LEADERSHIP

Yet we can have no great hope that mutual warning, like Mr. Faulkner's and mine, that these pious exhortations to reason and moderation, will in themselves be heeded. The basic weakness of the middle position is that it does not now, that it does not as yet, represent a practical and concrete program on which men of moderate temper have agreed to unite. Mr. Faulkner says "go slow now." But how slowly can we go without nullifying the Constitution? Northerners say "Take your time but show good faith." But what would be enough compliance to prove good faith?

The Supreme Court has accepted the responsibility of judging these questions as they are presented to the federal court. But what seems to be missing is a consensus of enlightened opinion as to what issues it is necessary and wise to present to the court and in what order. For the formation of such a consensus it may prove necessary to call upon the President for leadership. (Copy, 1956, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.)

Tardy Falls the DEW

Special to The Times

OTTAWA—There was no hilarity when Dr. Solandt, the retiring chief of Canada's Defence Research Board coldly and dispassionately discussed the possibility of North American defence against an intercontinental Guided Missile in a press conference. He foresaw a lapse of time between the development of the ICBM and an effective defence. In that period whichever side had the ICBM first would be the dominant power, he warned. At the same time he spoke of the alarming shortage of scientists that is developing in the western world and the need for steps being taken to ensure that more young people are encouraged to go in for scientific studies.

A need for more high school science teachers was essential if Canada was to increase its number of scientists. It is at the high school level that young students are encouraged to take scientific courses in university. If there are not sufficient numbers of good high school science instructors, then the whole system of training breaks down, Dr. Solandt pointed out.

TRIBUTE

During his last press conference as chairman of the Defence Research Board Dr. Solandt reviewed the period during which he had held the important defence job. He paid a tribute to the newspapermen in the Parliamentary Press Gallery, who had found that they endeavored to report objectively and sought to protect the public interest by exposing those who had made inexcusable errors. He also said his attitude towards bureaucrats had undergone a change in his 10 years as a government servant. On the whole he had found the government officials to be very "competent," he declared.

As Our Readers See It

$5 MILLION SHOULD DO IT

Now that the "unusual weather" has taken Victoria and its roses under its protection every citizen must support Mayor Percy Surrah in his efforts to place our just claims before the present premier of B.C.

Accurate estimates can be made later but $5 million should cover most of the requirements necessary to make Victoria a joy forever to citizens and visitors alike. Civic pride is a splendid thing and I only mention Birmingham (England) with its Socialist one million homes and other splendid achievements as a spur to increased mental activity amongst our most alert citizens.

To pass Birmingham is a worthy civic goal (even without its feeble population of millions) and smugness and apathy must never cloud our vision of a truly Greater Victoria in our time. Our Sacred memories need not sleep. Go wake Mr. Chant.

RICHARD ARMSTRONG
1020-B Pandora Ave.

CEILING OF ANXIETY The Legislature has been prorogued and a ceiling of anxiety and insecurity has descended upon the people who elected the Sacred government.

The premier previously defecting from his own party is now faced by another type of defection within his own present ranks. The sacrosanct proclamations declared inseparable from Sacred principles lie in the dust! Human sympathy must be awarded Mr. Bennett, nor withheld from Mr. Sommers, for as principals in the "Affair" and representatives of the people, they are now called upon to fearlessly pursue the only honourable course, viz. a judicial enquiry and investigation that will clear the names of all those who must not remain suspect any longer than is necessary. KATHLEEN M. WORTHINGTON-LAKE

NO NEWS OF THE ARK

Concerning the reports of American expedition parties exploring Mount Ararat in Armenia for traces of Noah's Ark—no further reports of any findings have been heard, and up to now no really definite claims have been made of findings of the slightest trace of this ancient Ark.

Now after 5,000 years it seems difficult to expect to find any trace or particle of the Ark on that mountain. It seems clear that even if it had been frozen solid during the winter season, this would not have been good enough to have preserved it from decay by erosion and rain, thawing of snow and ice during the spring and summer seasons and also by avalanches and landslides from time to time. HAROLD HESKIN.
Aged Men's Home, 2251 Cadboro Bay Road.

COST OF LIVING

Elgin Neish should get his facts straight before criticizing Ald. Edgewood and others.

Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports as follows: Cost of living, September, 1951, 116.3; September, 1952, 116.1; September, 1953, 116.8.

From this it will be seen that the cost of living has not appreciably risen since the fall of 1951.

Those familiar with the situation fail to understand on what grounds unions demand the constant increases they do. Such demands do not give with the cost of living. Productivity has helped to keep the cost down in spite of the increases demanded and given.

From January, 1952, percentage increases (compounded) to the end of 1955 have been (to city employees) as follows:

Inside staff 14.75 per cent; outside staff, 16.1 per cent; public health nurses, 23.5 per cent; firemen, 20.5 per cent; policemen 28.5 per cent; street lighting staff, 17.1 per cent; carpenters, 28.6 per cent.

These rises have been received without an appreciable rise in the cost of living (see above).

Mr. Neish would apparently like to see our capitalist economy having to pay continuous increases, whether warranted or not, so as to destroy that economy? FRANK H. PARTRIDGE 1604 Belmont Ave.

MARKED for READING PREVENTION

Tolerance can be appreciated by people who are educated, well-informed and well-intentioned. Louts and hooligans, ignorant and spiteful people regard tolerance as approval—or at least as no indicating disapproval. The law will show its disapproval when the crime comes to light; it is my submission that society should anticipate the disapproval and so possibly prevent the trouble instead of waiting to cure it. Prevention is always better than cure!

—C. A. Joyce, talking in a BBC program.

YOUTHFUL PEN

All who are to write start early. I didn't get very much down on paper in the earliest years, when my imagination was probably most active—that's to say, not until I was about perhaps twenty-five. I don't do it for that very reason, that my imagination was so active that it outpaced my pen. And it wasn't until I began to dictate a bit that I felt I was able even to begin to catch up the gallop of Pegasus. For that reason I did not write much at the time when most poets write.

—Lord Dunsany.

I Should Write Mr. Gordon

SPEAKING only for myself, and not driven to it by the importuning of a large and influential body of friends, I'm thinking of preparing my own brief to the Gordon Commission.

As I understand it, the commission is seeking opinion, advice and information which may be compiled into a report for study in any plan to channel Canada's future development.

This is my point, and I think the Gordon commission should have it: My hunk of Canada used to have a lot of attractions it hasn't now but would, in my opinion, be a lot better off if it could regain.

From time to time I'm inclined to cock a jaundiced eye at all this talk of progress. I'm not sure, as far as that goes, that much of it is progress at all. A whole lot is just change—and not always for the better.

Out here in the west, it seems to me, we're getting too busy to let the smile dwell a little longer. We haven't time to make the hand-clasp a little stronger. We're too anxious to get cracking and knock down a few more trees, dam another river and put down black-top twenty-four feet wide where a trail used to meander by a stream. Pretty soon we'll have the stream itself wrapped up, neat and tidy, in a few lengths of cement pipe.

SAVING TIME AT A PRICE

I look at it this way: When I first started driving to Shawinigan in that model Essex they called the "Gutless Six," it used to take me an hour if I traveled at a comfortable speed. Fifty minutes wasn't bad, and a kid who wasn't then looking forward to a calm and philosophical old age held the record of 35 minutes in an underslung sports roadster.

Now I can amble up to the lake over the new outlet in 40 minutes easily. And this is progress—a 30 per cent improvement.

Only I don't pass that section of the Highway where one of the fine dogwoods of an earlier day used to break into quick green and white glory of foliage and blossom in the spring. And it wouldn't matter if I took the old route, because the tree was felled when the road was widened.

Where I once used to enter Goldstream through a gateway, walled on one side by mountain and the other by a knoll of mossy rock, where wild lilies grew, I now pass through an enlarged portal with an impending shale slide where the mountain was and a sharp, ugly needle of rock where the knoll once rose.

This is progress, too. It cuts down my traveling time.

Pretty soon, they tell me, I'll be able to go up to Butte Lake and look at a mammoth bathtub, where the water once lapped on fairy beaches.

And if the tourist-minded people of the Highland district just out of town, have their way those secret spots where water bubbled over brown stones into cool pools will soon be opened up to any litterbug who wants to journey along there.

There won't be any reward for the boy who makes his laborious bike ride into that part of the country formerly protected by bad roads and spring washouts.

I'll never see Tweedsmuir Park as it once was with a lakeland that made pictures for travelogues. And if the sulphite industry keeps progressing, it will soon be an asset to have lost the sense of smell.

LET'S DAM IT

As hydro development continues, I'll never have to repeat the phrase of woodsmen who have come across beautiful waterfalls only to remark, "Isn't that fine. Guess they'll dam it soon."

Ignorant as I am of economics, I realize that as these mechanical advancements occur—as we liquidate more and more of what Providence gave us as nourishment for the soul—I'll share in the increasing monetary prosperity of the country.

Things will be easier for me. I'll have more time. The struggle for survival will soften.

But what will I have the time for? To look at television? To crowd more into a day than a day should hold? Or just more hours to twiddle my thumbs and grow senile with increased leisure?

Mr. Gordon and his boys ought to think a little about that. Me, I'm not anxious to have two fish-tail Cadillacs in my garage—which isn't big enough anyhow. And one chicken in the roaster every now and then is plenty for me.

Maybe it's luxuries I'm after, but I would like to see a few trees left standing—big ones, too, even if they're tending to over-maturity. I would like to see water running over stones. I would like, too, to be sure of a little fresh air. Which makes me pretty reactionary, I guess. But I'm not in a hurry.

Big Swollen Legs

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation.

There is a miserable disease, called lymphedema of the legs. It occurs usually in women and distresses them greatly because of the unpleasant appearance. Sometimes both legs are too large, but sometimes only one leg is enormous. In the worst cases the disease is called elephantiasis of the legs. The exact cause of this disease is not well understood. It is not due to big veins; it seems to be due to some, possibly inherited, abnormality in the tiny vessels under the skin which carry lymph or a watery-like substance away from the tissues.

Some women can be helped by wearing an elastic bandage or an elastic stocking. Some will look much better after reducing weight and taking off a lot of fat. Finally, there is a group who very much want to be operated on. Years ago, surgeons used to perform what was called the Condoleon operation, in which the tissue under the skin was removed, but this was a rather dangerous operation, and often the results were not entirely satisfactory. Today some surgeons are removing all of the swollen tissue between the skin and the muscles. Then they trim the skin down to fit the smaller size of the leg. They cut it into strips and graft these onto the muscle. Then a firm pressure dressing is applied with a plaster-of-paris cast to hold things in place. Right after this work is done the leg operated on is abnormally thin, but later it tends to round out again and to look more nearly normal.

A BETTER TEST FOR BRUCELLOSIS

In the Journal of the American Medical Association (Aug. 7, 1953) is a leading editorial in which the writer says truly that brucellosis is "often overlooked and frequently misdiagnosed." The only way of making the diagnosis with certainty is to culture the bacteria from the blood, but one can hope to do this only in acute cases. Usually, the doctor makes the diagnosis from the so-called agglutination test. This has never been satisfactory, for several reasons. Almost all persons react to the test to some extent, hence a wise physician pays no attention to a positive report unless the person's blood reacted strongly or violently. But even such a strong reaction does not prove that, at the moment, the person has an active brucellosis. It suggests only that once he did suffer from the infection.

One great difficulty has been that the essential material used in the test varies so much that three tests made in three laboratories commonly do not agree. Now an effort is being made to standardize the essential "antigen" used so that perhaps three laboratories can agree. I keep seeing persons who have been given a diagnosis of brucellosis, but when I send their blood to a fine university laboratory, I practically always get a report of "nothing wrong."

PATERNITY SUITS AND BLOOD TESTS

It is sad but rather to be expected that some judges in the United States have been slow to believe blood experts when they say that with their battery of tests for blood grouping they can state positively that a certain man accused of being the father of a child could not possibly have been. The other day I read that a few years ago even the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the refusal of a trial court to order a blood test on the grounds that scientists had not yet agreed as to the significance of these tests. But things are changing, and of late many courts have faced the fact that one inherits one's blood characteristics as exactly according to laws as one inherits one's black hair or blue eyes.

A point that should be remembered is that these blood tests do not show that a man is the father of a certain child. They show either that he could not have been the father, or that it would be mighty hard to find in the whole state another man with such blood groupings as the putative father had—hence he probably was the father.

AN ARTIFICIAL LUNG

A few years ago, when surgeons began to operate often on the heart, they first had to devise an artificial heart to pump the blood around while the surgical work was being done. Then, in some cases, they had to provide an artificial lung which would keep aerating the blood while the heart was being worked on. Surgeons at Duke University have just described an interesting artificial lung made of plastic bags in which the blood is mixed with the necessary oxygen, and the hurtful carbon dioxide is taken away.

Food-Rich Broccoli Can Be Seeded Now

Broccoli is not as difficult to grow as some of us have been told and it is a crop rich in vitamins.

It is semi-hardy, withstanding cool weather and possibly a degree or two of frost, and grows in a variety of soils if they are well drained and rich in plant nutrients.

Variety commonly grown for both home and market is the Italian green sprouting, or calabrese.

For a spring crop, sow seed in boxes indoors or in a cold-frame about four weeks before the anticipated date of planting outdoors. Harden the plants well before transferring to outside conditions.

For a fall crop seed may be sown in an open coldframe or

PGE Workers Escape Sniper's Bullet

WEST VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Pacific Great Eastern Railway workmen told police they were shot at as their work train passed through here late Monday.

Lorne McNamee, 38-year-old conductor of North Vancouver, and Finn McRae, 31, of Lillooet, said they were standing on the rear platform of the caboose when a .22-calibre bullet smashed into the door between their heads.

"I haven't got any enemies that would take a shot at me—I don't think," Mr. McNamee said.

Police said investigations were continuing.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Three police officers here are being sued for assault, false imprisonment and malicious prosecution by Fred Black of Cloverdale. Black was arrested Oct. 18 and charged with creating a disturbance and assaulting a policeman. The disturbance charge was dismissed and the other withdrawn. He started the Supreme Court action Monday against constables Fred Mercer, Butler Skea and John Usher.

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Prospector Fred Becker of Kamloops returned to this Thompson Valley city Sunday for another plane after crash-landing in the mountains Thursday on his way to a reported copper strike 80 miles north of here.

Becker said a downdraft caught his small plane and he was forced to crash-land in the Clearwater area. Neither he nor his passenger, Al Bellerive, were injured.

Expansion Considered by Sidney

SIDNEY—Village commission is considering annexation of 65 acres of department of transport land on the western boundary of the village, north of Beacon Avenue.

There is no building property in the village, "and we must fit in with the anticipated expansion of Fairley Aviation Ltd. at Patricia Bay. It would lead eventually to the addition of 300 new names to the Sidney tax roll," he said.

Herbert Bradley, chairman of the commission, said it would be suitable for airport personnel, he said, and will roll, he said.

HE HAS FUN WHEN YOU GO ON VACATION

There are all kinds of bears around, but the ones that concern this story, and you, are the little chaps that set up camp near a vacation resort. They're smart.

They know that nice people will donate them ham sandwiches and other edible items from picnic baskets.

Like we said, bears are smart.

Friend Bruin doesn't have to save to have fun on vacation, but people should.

If they want to have all kinds of fun.

How about it? Next pay day, open a Savings Account at Imperial Bank, and follow it up with regular deposits. Then, come vacation-time, you'll have all the fun you want, because you'll have the extra money you need.

She may hold a vital secret of your future health

Here you are eye-witnessing a method of research that has recently made medical history.

Known as "tissue culture", it is the method by which the famous Salk polio vaccine is produced. But this same technique now holds exciting promise of bringing immunity from a host of other diseases!

Meningitis, pneumonia, influenza, measles, chickenpox, mumps—these are but a few of the diseases which medical science is fighting on a world-wide front with this shining new weapon.

Like polio, all of these ills can be caused by some kind of virus. Some viruses can now be isolated and grown in tissue cultures. After being "killed", they may then be made into safe vaccines. So the laboratory technician shown here may have in her hands the key to a vaccine that will someday control a disease which now is a potential threat to you and your loved ones.

This project, conducted by the Research Institute of the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, is supported by funds contributed by the nation's life insurance companies. It is one of many similar projects supported wholly or in part in this way.

The life insurance companies in Canada are proud to be playing some part in furthering the great progress of medical science. It is our hope that these projects will result in a healthier life for all.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

DISTRICT NOTES: At the monthly meeting of the Scout council held on Thursday last the speaker was Dr. W. Valens, psychiatrist, provincial child guidance clinic.

He spoke on the behaviour of different children, and said that many boys had benefited by belonging to the Boy Scouts.

District leaders have ready for distribution the plans and allotments of the different parts that Packs and Troops will play in the forthcoming "Scouterama," they will be contacting the cubmasters and scoutmasters as to their part during the week.

The writer saw a first running of the official scout film of the 8th world jamboree, held last summer in Ontario. It is an outstanding movie of Scouts from all over the world at work and play, and gives one the feeling that people of different races can live together in peace and harmony.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy.

Andy who is a little girl, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions are selected to answer will receive as prizes for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 16-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy" Victoria Daily Times Victoria.

Andy sends a complete, 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" to Charlotte Legg, aged eight, of Frankford, W. Va., for her question:

What Is the Most Important Form of Life in the Soil?

Every patch of rich soil teems with tiny tenants. There are beetles, insects and insect eggs of all kinds. There are grubs, worms and spiders. Maybe there are larger fellows, the moles and mice. There are also creatures too small for our eyes to see. Every shovelful of soil is home to millions of them. They are the minute molds and bacteria. Each of these creatures would tell you, if he could, that he is the most important tenant of the soil.

In a way he would be right for his most important job is to keep himself alive. He must struggle to feed and grow and to hand on life. It is mother nature who makes the overall plans for the soil population. And she gives that honor to no one. To her, all the little creatures are of equal importance.

Nature seems to want a variety of children. She gives them all a chance to live. But she checks each different kind from becoming too plentiful. Otherwise the rest would suffer. This balance of nature keeps a certain number of creatures alive, but not too many of each kind.

Now which tenant of the soil is most important to us? The answer is that each one helps make the soil richer for our fields and gardens. This is true even of the soil population that seems to be a nuisance. The busy mole digs up mounds on the lawn. But his tunnels also let needed air and water deep into the soil. He eats a few lily bulbs. He also eats a lot of grubs and bugs that would feed upon our crop plants. Mr. Mole is a mixed blessing to the soil. But he does more good than harm. This is true of most of the little rodents that burrow in the soil.

The earthworm certainly does more good than harm. His burrows ventilate and water the earth. He eats the earth down below and empties it on the surface. The earthworm turns over the soil like a plowman. He also helps to clean up the garden by eating old leaves. He does as much as any creature to make the soil rich and loamy.

The soil is the burial place, as well as the home, for its tenants. But the remains are never wasted—far from it. Tiny garbage men break up the used bodies into plant food. This job is usually started by beetles and insects. Then the minute molds and bacteria take over. When the work is done, only simple chemicals are left to enrich the soil.

Some of these little molds destroy other molds that attack our bodies. Anomycin is a medicine made from one such mold. Now how can you choose which of the little earth-dwellers is most important? Each has his own importance and all work together to make the soil rich.

Andy sends a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" to Kathleen Buckley, aged 9, of Philadelphia, Penna., for her question:

What caused the Ice Age?

The earth has lived through four Ice ages. The last one melted away some 20,000 years ago. There were human beings there to see it go. They saw the ice turn into teeming rivers and floods of water.

An Ice Age need not be extremely cold. Suppose a summer is too cool to melt all the winter's snow. If this went on, the snows of many years would pile up and pack into glaciers. The glaciers would grow and cover more and more land until warmer summers returned to stop them.

No one knows for sure what caused the temperature to drop those few necessary degrees. At one time, it was thought, the earth moved a little further from the sun. Another idea is that the sun cooled off for a spell. Another, no more than a guess, blames it on volcanic dust. Dust in the air steals heat more and more for the earth. Enough volcanic dust might lower the temperature enough to cause an Ice Age. However, no one has definitely proved what caused these long, long winters.

Stratford Dates Set At Edinburgh

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—Dates for the Stratford Festival company's appearance this summer at the 10th Edinburgh International Music and Drama Festival in Scotland were announced today.

The company, the first from an overseas Commonwealth country to perform at Edinburgh, will present two plays, Aug. 28-Sept. 8.

The Canadian company, making its first overseas appearance, will present Shakespeare's "Henry V." to be produced at Stratford earlier in the summer, and revive Tivoli's production of "Oedipus Rex." "Oedipus" was presented at Stratford in 1954 and 1955 with James Mason and Douglas Campbell respectively, in the title role.

Eight French-speaking Canadians headed by Montreal's Gratien Gelinas will form the court of King Charles VI of France in "Henry V."

Great Sensitivity Shown by Pianist

Pennario Impresses City Audience With Many Outstanding Attributes

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Much had been heard, prior to Leonard Pennario's first visit to Victoria, Monday night, of his "phenomenal technique" and "transcendental virtuosity." In the seasoned concert-goer's mind such terms give rise to wonder as to whether the artist is relying exclusively on pianistic virtuosity for his place in the sun.

In Pennario's case, 29 albums of records exist to refute the idea, but actually one must hear a live performance before truly and fully being able to evaluate the artist.

By the time the young personable pianist had concluded the Schubert B Flat Impromptu, his right to be considered primarily as a musician—an artist of great sensitivity—was clearly established.

TENDERNESS
In this lovely romantic composition so effulgent with melody and glowing harmonies, there was the most exquisite proportion in every phrase, each note of long retards fell perfectly into place; the pallet of tone color was used with tenderness and charm but entirely without sentimentality.

The artist's deep penetration of the character of each composition was one of his outstanding attributes. His Brahms was a distinctive contrast to the lyric Schubert, being gigantic and splendidly masculine in conception.

His audience also received full impact of Schumann's intellectual poise in the Fantasia, Opus 17, and the delicate light-and-shadow play of Debussy in "La Plus Que Lente."

A remarkable evenness in the development of both hands was apparent not only in the Scriabin Nocturne, for the left hand alone, but in the richly dimensional effect of his entire program. There were times when it would have been easy to believe, without sight, that a du-piano work was being performed.

Internal voice parts were fully developed by fingers whose agility and power have certainly not been surpassed on the local concert stage.

The marvellous and breath-taking Ravel "La Valse" transcribed with the extreme of virtuoso embellishment by the composer, proved the pianist more than equal to every demand made upon him.

Then in his encores he turned to Chopin and proved, particularly in the E flat Nocturne, his ability to present simply without flourish and with genuine sensitivity, mood and thought of the master poet-pianist.

UNIQUE TALENT
One-Woman Show Warmly Acclaimed

A four-way display of talent unique to most art and musical circles was warmly acclaimed on the first of a two-night presentation at Norfolk Galleries Monday.

Titled "An Evening With Peggy Walton Packard," the patrons were treated to a recital of songs, a display of sculpture, and a number of portraits and oil paintings—all by Miss Packard.

The accomplished woman sang, surrounded by her creative works, the most outstanding of which were her sculptures.

Her audience, seated on three sides of the accompanist's piano, seemed to enjoy the vocal program as much as the art.

Songs, ranging from Debussy, Martini and Mozart to Vaughan Williams and the Negro spiritual, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," were received enthusiastically for more than an hour by the near-capacity audience, which called back Miss Packard, a dramatic soprano, for three encores.

Most striking of the art was a life-size head in sculpture titled, "Self Portrait," its likeness to Miss Packard made unmistakable by its place atop the piano as she sang.

At the keyboard was Richard Proudman, who takes his place again tonight at 8:30.

Mr. Proudman, who was making his first public appearance before a Victoria audience, is a new arrival from England and is in charge of the music department of University School.

Scots Trophy Honors Slain Police Piper

VANCOUVER (CP)—Memory of the late Gordon Sinclair, Vancouver police constable slain last December in the course of duty, will be perpetuated by the B.C. Pipers Association in a special trophy to be awarded for the first time at the 24th annual piping competitions to be held here March 17.

To be known as the Gordon Sinclair Memorial Trophy, it will honor the memory of the slain constable who was president of the B.C. Pipers Association at the time of his death. Sinclair was a noted piper who also taught and composed pipe music.

The trophy will be awarded to the winner in a special classification for boys and girls under 16 years of age to be known as "amateur pipeband" (classical bagpipe music).

Roast Beef Man's Menu For March 17

Roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, a typical north England dish, will be the main course at a St. Patrick's Day dinner planned for Saturday by the Wesley Club of Victoria West United Church.

"Of course there will be spuds," said Wesley Club president Leslie Peat today, "and the rest of the program will be as Irish as Paddy's pig. But we are told by the ladies that Yorkshire pudding at a banquet is something of a challenge."

The men's club of the church, now in its second year, hopes for an attendance of well over 100 at its first effort in the culinary field.

Esquimalt Will Reserve New Kinver Beach Park Site

An Esquimalt Lions Club bid to obtain an old gravel pit to develop into a children's park was rejected Monday by Esquimalt council.

But, councillors agreed to reserve the site, at the foot of Munro near Kinver Beach, for eventual public park purposes.

Lions Club will be invited to assist in development of the area for children and small boat owners.

Ultimate desire of the club was to construct a pool and concrete ramp for swimming and small boats, with other facilities provided for children and automobile parking.

Council will take necessary steps to dedicate the area as a public park on guidance from the municipal solicitor.

At a meeting of the parks board with club members, it was estimated the pool would cost between $18,000 and $19,000, although one unofficial professional estimate placed the cost at $50,000 for a satisfactory job.

A fourth recommendation of the parks committee, to ask for a grant from the capital city beautification fund, was withdrawn.

It was felt by Coun. G. K. Sammon, chairman of the committee, that an amount from this fund might some day be asked for the Gorge Park development, which would benefit Victoria, Esquimalt and Saanich.

Council approved an estimated $125 expenditure to landscape and complete the frontage of Esquimalt's newly renovated and expanded Municipal Hall.

Lawn will be seeded, a telephone pole relocated, curbs, gutters and sidewalks laid along the Esquimalt Road and Park Place sides of the building.

HEALTH SHARE
Agreement in principle to a plan to share cost of a public health educator in Victoria and Esquimalt schools was given by council.

With the city paying 25 per cent, Esquimalt paying 25 per cent and the school board 50 per cent of the cost of providing the educator, Esquimalt will pay a total of $9,149.55 towards operation of Victoria Esquimalt Union Board of Health this year. This figure is $1,350 over 1955 estimates.

"We couldn't begin to run a health service ourselves for that figure," health board delegate Coun. Sammon said.

He said such a plan would cost about $18,000 a year for

BILL WALKER—Sports Editor

8 Victoria Daily Times TUESDAY, MARCH 15, 1956

IT'S MY VIEW

BY

Bill Walker

The note in the post was from Western Hockey League president Al Leader.

What the good president suggested was that now is the time for all sportswriters and radio types to come to the aid of the Western Hockey League all-star team.

What he didn't say was that to the honored six goes the cash remuneration of $100 per man.

What he didn't say was that there is an abundance of good wingers in the league; that the centre spot will be a hotly disputed position; that hockey fans will argue into the summer over the goal-keeping award; that picking the most valuable player will have to wait a few days; that the east will never agree with the west, and that some deserving guy will be left out in the cold.

And so, in fairness to all, a private poll was taken in the Times sports department. And this poll showed the wide divergence of opinion that likely will mark the all-star selection from the various league cities this year.

From yours truly, Denny Boyd and Bill Rayner, the consensus is that three men should qualify handily for the dream team; but that the other three berths are completely wide open.

Two of those players are members of the Cougars—goalie Marcel Pelletier and left winger Colin Kilburn. The other is centre Phil Maloney of the Canucks.

They undoubtedly have been their respective leaders this season.

It's take your pick for the other posts and may the better men get what is rightfully theirs.

At any rate, and without further ado, here are the selections of the Times Sportsters Incorporated (Copyright, March 1956, all rights reserved):

CRUCIAL GAME TONIGHT

NHL Stakes High For Bruins, Wings

MONTREAL (CP)—When Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins meet tonight in Boston Garden—only game scheduled as the National Hockey League's regular season enters its final week—the outcome will have a direct bearing on the ultimate occupants of second, third, fourth and fifth places.

While the close battle for the scoring championship goes merrily on, with Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens now leading Detroit's Gordie Howe by only four points, immediate attention was centred on this single game.

The second-place Red Wings have 75 points; the third-place New York Rangers 73.

Second place is worth $500 to each player and the club has the home-ice edge in the semi-finals of the post-season Stanley Cup series. The third-place club, rewarded with $350 per player, loses that edge.

MEANS PLAYOFF SPOT
More important, at least to the successful club, is the struggle for fourth place between Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins. The monetary reward is only $150, but fourth-place finish means entry into the Cup series and more money. Players on clubs finishing fifth and sixth pack up and go home.

If Boston wins tonight, Toronto could clinch fourth place with a win and a tie. This eventuality is on the assumption that the Bruins can't overcome the nine-goal deficit in two games. Each club would have 24 wins and 33 losses—the first two considerations in event of a tie on points—but the Leafs now have 150 goals during the season, to the Bruins' 141. The goals-for figure is the third method, when ties persist, of determining the higher-place club.

HANK OFFERS CASH FOR TWO-HOUR GAME

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—General manager Hank Greenberg thinks Cleveland Indians are taking too much time to play a baseball game and he is doing something about it.

Greenberg promised Monday that the club will pay $100 into a players' fund for each game Indians win in two hours or less during the regular season.

"Maybe this will make them hustle a little bit," Greenberg said.

The average length of Indians' games last season was two hours and 20 minutes.

OH SUN, WHERE ART THOU?

Colwood Golf Club professional Bill Court kneels in a position of supplication to the weatherman at Colwood's snow-covered fourth tee. All Bill wants is a little spring sunshine to remove the snow on the course before the Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open championship medal round March 25.

Stamps Edge Warriors To Share Prairie Lead

Calgary 2, Winnipeg 1

WINNIPEG (CP)—After two scoreless periods, Calgary Stampede took two minutes to score twice Monday night to defeat Winnipeg 2-1 and tie the Warriors with 78 points at the top of the Western Hockey League's Prairie division.

Each club has three games left to play.

Nearly 5,500 spectators saw Warriors, a new entry in the WHL this year, cracked by the Stampede in a hard-checking contest.

Barry Ross found the chink in goalkeeper Ed Chadwick's armor after seven seconds of the final frame. Archie Scott tried with a high shot immediately after the opening face-off but Chadwick dropped it to his feet. He swept it out 10 feet to Ross, who slammed it into the back of the net.

Little more than two minutes later, Ray Barry, Calgary's captain, completed a smooth play from Steve Witluk and Bill Shevtz.

Ray Frederick in the Stampede net lost his chance for a shutout halfway through the period when Ed Mazur connected.

Chadwick turned away 21 shots; Frederick stopped 22.

Only the sensational goal-keeping of Stampede net-keeper Ray Frederick in the last 10 minutes of the game kept Warriors from scoring the equalizer.

Tonight Calgary plays Brandon.

Trentini Stars For Canadians
KELOWNA (CP)—Walt Trentini's goal early in the second period was the only score here Monday night as Vernon Canadians blanked Kelowna Packers 1-0 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five Okanagan Senior Hockey League finals.

It was Trentini's fourth counter in the finals.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Tim Lachar Wagner, 194, Merton, Minn., drew with Jim Saunders, 228, Winnipeg (4).

STOCKTON, Calif.—Cliff Shultz, 161, Reno, Nev., drew with Reno Abellira, 161, Honolulu (10).

Totems on Title Trail

Victoria High School Totems, solid winners of the Vancouver Island high school basketball championship, hit the boards at UBC gym in Vancouver Wednesday in quest of the B.C. title.

Totems will compete with 15 other high school squads in two divisions of eight teams each, with the section winners meeting in a playoff.

Totems will meet Cumberland, another Island finalist in the Island tourney, in their first game at UBC Wednesday at 1 p.m. Should they keep on winning, they will play Thursday night at 7:45 and Friday night at 9. Final between the two divisional winners will be Saturday night at 9.

According to coach Porky Andrews, Totems are in top physical and mental shape for the series. Led by brilliant forward Art Chiko, winner of the Times Most Valuable Player Award in the Island tourney, Totems will travel to Vancouver with the same lineup that blasted Alberni District High School Chieftains, 54-43, in the Island final.

Alberni also will make the trip to Vancouver, as will Esquimalt High, third-place

B.C. Shares Curling Lead

VANCOUVER (CP)—Manitoba and British Columbia took the lead Monday night in the fourth annual western Canada women's curling championship here.

The Manitoba rink, skipped by Mrs. Lillie Clark of Portage La Prairie, overwhelmed Mrs. Hazel Grigg's Saskatchewan rink from Moose Jaw 17-4. Saskatchewan conceded after 11 ends in the third-round game.

Mrs. Jack McAllister skipped her Vancouver rink to a close 12-10 win over Mrs. Bill Bull of Edmonton. Alberta had two four-enders and was one up coming home before Mrs. McAllister scored a three on the 12th.

Earlier the four teams, had broken even with a win and a loss each.

Outclassed

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (AP)—Heavyweight Jimmy Walls faced the possibility of a 90-day suspension today as a result of his inept performance against Floyd Patterson.

Patterson, scaling 183 pounds to Walls' 192, scored a technical knockout at 2:29 of the second round last night after completely outclassing his opponent.

Third Division Soccer

LONDON (Reuters)—Swindon Town defeated Brentford 2-1 at Brentford Monday night in an English League Third Division South soccer game.

In Glasgow, a Scottish eleven won 2-1 over a team of South African players with English and Scottish clubs.

Times Island Golf Opens Next Week

Match Play Tournament Open to All

Attention, all golfers! Entries now are being accepted for the annual Victoria Daily Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open golf championships.

First major event on the golfing calendar, the tournament will open with a qualifying round of 36 holes at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club, Sunday, March 25.

Low 32 will qualify in the Open and Handicap championship divisions.

Match play will begin the following Sunday, April 1, at Gorge Vale; second round at Uplands, April 8; third round at Victoria Club, April 15, semi-finals at Colwood, April 22, and finals at Gorge Vale, April 29.

Victoria Daily Times trophy will be awarded the winner of the Open championship and the Hugh Francis Trophy to the handicap champion.

R.C. PLAYOFF

The Island Open champion will meet the winner of the Vancouver Daily Province Match Play tournament in a 36-hole final for the R.C. title at Vancouver.

Bill McColl was last year's winner of the Island tourney. He lost to Bill Mawhinney at Victoria Golf Club in the provincial final.

Other past Island winners were: Eric Hiberson in 1950 and 1954; Bob Fleming, 1951; Ted Colgate, 1952 and Bob Morrison, 1953.

Tournament is open to all registered members of Vancouver Island clubs, including professionals.

Entry forms will be found on Times sports pages this week and must be forwarded to Leo Derman, secretary, Gorge Vale Golf Club, by 5 p.m. March 21. Draw will be made Thursday, March 22.

Entry will be limited to 120.

MANY PRIZES

The usual prize list will prevail, with the value of the awards to be boosted from last year.

Qualifying round prizes include: Low gross, runner-up to low gross, low net, runner-up to low net, low net first nine, low net second nine.

In addition, there will be awards for the defeated semifinalists and finalists in both events.

Cash awards will be given to professionals on the following basis:

Island championship $100.
Defeated finalist $50.
Defeated semifinalist $25.
Tourney medalist $30.
Runner-up to tourney medalist $25.

Match play will be over 18 holes except for semifinal and final rounds which will be decided over 36 holes.

Make out your entry form now.

Fort Rouge Curlers Honor Brier Champs

WINNIPEG (CP)—More than 400 persons crowded into the rotunda at the Union Depot here Monday night to greet Billy Walsh and his Canadian curling champions.

Flashing signs reading "Fort Rouge, home of the champs," "Welcome home, Walsh rink," and "Manitoba is proud of you," the crowd swarmed up to a hastily-erected platform as Walsh, third Allan Langlois and second Cy White entered the rotunda. Lead Andy McWilliams remained in the east to visit a sister.

The Walsh rink won the championship last week at Moncton, N.B.

Walsh's mates from the Fort Rouge club were out in a body. The men provided an honor guard as the rink was piped to the platform.

Cats Go Under Whip Tonight

It's almost, but not quite, a case of put up or shut up for Victoria Cougars tonight at Vancouver.

In meeting the Canucks with the western division of the Western Hockey League at stake, Cougars seemingly must win if they are to retain a chance to grab off first place.

Trailing Canucks by a single point, a Cougar loss would put the locals three points behind. And with only two games remaining to play for each club after tonight, Canucks would then need no better than one tie to take the league crown.

A Cougar victory would put the shoe on the other foot and give the locals the edge entering the final stage of the league race Friday and Saturday.

Olson, himself, will not dress for the contest, and Doug Anderson's return is still a question mark. Anderson worked out briefly with the club Monday, but his injured shoulder was causing him trouble. Olson's bruised ankle was not responded to treatment as well as expected.

If Anderson does not play, Olson will go with rookies Larry Leach and Pete Panagabko; while if Anderson does play, one of the newcomers will have to be dropped.

GOLD DUST NIGHT
Friday night marks the close of the regular season here and, in addition to being "Gold Dust" night, two unclaimed prizes from fans' night last week will also go on the block.

A TCA trip for one to the Stanley Cup finals and tickets for two at three games in the city of the winner's choice will be one of the awards, while two season's tickets to next year's Cougar games is the other.

The "Gold Dusters," Doug Anderson, Colin Kilburn and Doug Macaulay, will be honored with the presentation of gifts for their service to the club.

Fans Mob New Zealand Cricketers

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (Reuters)—Six thousand cheering New Zealanders leaped over the boundary fences at the Auckland Cricket Ground today to mob the New Zealand team for winning its first test match in history.

Offices and factories were empty as thousands crowded to the ground to see the final stages of the match against the West Indies, won by 150 runs. The West Indies, set to get 250 runs to win in four hours, lost the first six second-innings wickets for only 22, and were all out for 77 runs.

Every wicket-fall was cheered as if it were the last. Of their previous 44 test matches, New Zealand lost 22 and drew 22.

One of the New Zealand stars was a former West Indies player, Simpson Guillen. A wicketkeeper, he caught three West Indies batsmen in the first innings, hit 41 runs, before lunch, and stumped former colleague Alf Valentine to finish off West Indies after tea.

Grappling Grid Gents Bang Heads Thursday

They may use a kickoff at mid-ring to start Thursday night's special event wrestling match.

The third bout of the Victoria Ballroom three-bout card brings together Gil Mains and Reg Parkes and both of these huskies make a living during the fall season through the avails of professional football.

Mains is perhaps the better known of the two, being the object of many threats and a couple of court injunctions. He skipped from the Detroit Lions to the free-booting Toronto Argos, failed to click with the Argos and now is back with the Lions.

Parkes performs chores of mayhem as an offensive tackle with Chicago Bears of the National Football League.

In the first half of the double main event, Bob Strangler Wagner will take on Leo Numa in a one-hour period of inhibition dropping.

The other half of the main event will be a rematch between Adrian Baillergon and Lu Kim. Baillergon was injured the last time the pair met but Kim, with rare old charity, refused to take the default victory and insisted on Thursday's rematch.

First bout starts at 8.30.

BOXLA POSER

East, West, What's Best For Our Nip?

By DENNY BOYD

Nip O'Hearn may become the shortest-termed ex-Shamrock in history.

The veteran defenceman, former winner of the Max MacDonald trophy, has asked for a transfer from Victoria Shamrocks of the Intercity League to the Ontario Lacrosse Association.

However, there is more to it than a mere transfer request and the upshot is that Nip may be back in the Shamrock fold within two weeks.

In correspondence with Shamrock officials after he filed his bombshell transfer application, O'Hearn explained that he was seeking the transfer only as a safety precaution in the event that he is not able to come west this year.

O'Hearn operates a thriving motel in Key West, Florida, and the pressure of business is such that he may not be able to leave the job in time to report to the Rocks.

Fully aware of this possibility, O'Hearn wants the option of playing for an eastern team in case he is not able to rejoin the Rocks, with whom he has put in two seasons.

O'Hearn, leaving no stone unturned, took a further precaution in a personal letter to the OLA in which he asked to be allowed the right to withdraw his application for transfer in the event that he is in a position to come back to Victoria.

Shamrock officials are bewildered, but hopefully confident that Nip will be back in Victoria, that is.

Phillies Rate as Optimists of '56

The Philadelphia Phillies appear ready to operate this season with the motto "Think big, live big."

At any rate, the Phillies, perhaps with the intention of doubling last year's run output, have announced the building of a new scoreboard in Connie Mack Stadium.

The new board will be 175 feet high and 75 feet wide, almost twice the size of the present scoreboard.

After the project is completed, it will be up to the Phillies to produce runs in proportionate numbers.

National Hockey League referee Red Storey arrived home in Montreal Monday sporting a black eye of heroic dimensions. However, the veteran whistle-blower reported that the injury will not cause any serious harm to his eyesight and that he should be ready to resume action Thursday. Storey was injured Sunday night in New York when he accidentally hit in the eye by the stick of Ranger Wally Hergesheimer.

Jockeys Roger LeBlanc and Walter Blum were hit with $25 fines Monday as a result of a rousing fist fight in the jockey room following Saturday's fourth race at Gulfstream Park in Miami, Florida.

Andre Corriveau of Montreal Royals has been named this year's winner of the Byng of Vimy Trophy. The award goes to the Quebec Hockey League player judged by the league's referees to have best combined clean play with value to his club. Ex-Montreal Canadiens' goalie Gerry McNeill, now with Royals, was third in voting for the trophy.

British cricket players were partially exonerated from charges that they reverted to old fashioned cussing during a Sunday match in Pakistan. Players of the Marylebone Club were accused of swearing at their Pakistani opponents but the Pakistan board of control reviewed the case and said, "both sides were equally at fault."

Nashua and Swaps have been assigned top weight of 129 pounds each for Saturday's running of the $100,000 Gulfstream Park Derby at a mile and a quarter. Nashua, with a victory in the race, could boost his total earnings past the record amount of $1,085,760, won by Citation.

Hector Racine, who took over the Montreal Royals baseball franchise during the depression years and built it into a solid baseball empire, died in his sleep in Montreal Sunday night at the age of 69.

PANCHOS HOLD WIDE EDGE

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Pancho Gonzales scored his 45th victory against 12 losses in his pro tennis duel with Tony Trabert, winning 6-3, 12-10 here Monday night.

In the preliminary, Rex Hartwig registered his 11th win against 39 defeats and two ties in his series with Pancho Segura by defeating the Ecuadorian, 9-7.

Complaint Backfires On Irate Doug Ford

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — PGA tournament director Ray O'Brien has recommended that Doug Ford be fined $1,000 for "conduct unbecoming a player," the official said Monday.

The recommendation was made by O'Brien to the tournament committee which meets today at St. Petersburg, Fla.

It was outgrowth of an argument which followed a protest by Ford against slow play by Mike Fetchick in the third round of the Pensacola open Saturday. O'Brien overruled the protest.

Fetchick, from Mahopac, N.Y., played a threesome in front of Ford's threesome.

Ford, the 1955 PGA champion and a consistent money winner on the pro tournament circuit, charged that O'Brien was not enforcing regulations against slow play in the tournament. He said the threesome in which Fetchick was playing took three

MOTEL APPLICATION MADE

Saanich Studies Highway Access

Councillor Ronald Grant urged Saanich council Monday to follow recommendations of the Saanich Town Planning Commission with regard to safeguarding the Trans-Canada Highway as a limited access highway.

The councillor's advice followed an application of Morris Kersey, 2310 Arbutus Road, for the rezoning of land on Burnside and Interurban Road for the construction of a motel.

OWNS CORNER LOT
 Rezoning the land would permit Mr. Kersey to use the Trans-Canada Highway as an outlet to his proposed motel as he owns the service station and the lot at the corner of Burnside and the Island Highway.

The Town Planning Commission is opposed to the scheme because it wants to prevent congestion on the new highway. Last year it opposed the construction of the service station on the highway but was overruled by the old council.

NO INCREASE
 Municipal Engineer H. D. Dawson said he did not think construction of a motel on the site would increase traffic congestion to any extent on the highway.

Coun. Grant said he felt the commission's recommendations should be considered.

"I'm not against this project," he said, "but I think we should arrive at a compromise. There is no harm in building a motel on the site providing the highway is not used as an outlet, and Burnside Road is used instead."

He suggested that Mr. Kersey submit a plan to council which would assure council that the motel would be built in such a way to prevent the use of the service station lot as an outlet to the highway. Council approved the suggestion.

Refusal to Amend Labor Law Draws Fire From Island MLA

DUNCAN (CP) — R. W. Strachan, CCF MLA for Cowichan-Newcastle, criticized the B.C. Social Credit government Sunday for rejecting amendments to the Labor Relations Act which would bar small groups in industrial unions from breaking away and forming craft unions.

Speaking to the annual meeting of Local 180 of the International Woodworkers of America, he said it was this weakness in the act which made possible the situation between the IWA and Operating Engineers last fall, which could have tied up the entire wood-working industry.

Problem: My Job Is Being Moved to Vancouver --- What to Do?

The 400 employees of Sidney Roofing and Paper Co. Ltd. here today are in the throes of planning the future for themselves and families. The company is moving operations to the mainland starting early next year. This means a change of job or location for workers, renting or sales of homes, school changes for children and adjustment to the life of a new community. All have been asked to stay with the company.

Most contacted in a poll felt their best interests would be served by remaining with the firm, which means a loss of $1,400,000 annually to Victoria payroll.

A special meeting of industrialists and representatives of municipal councils will be called within two weeks to consider what can be done to hold industry here, James McKeachie, chairman of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce announced following confirmation the roofing plant is moving.

"We face hard business facts," he said, "and Sidney Roofing knows what it's doing. The pending move points up the need for an evaluation of our industrial position."

Vice-president and general manager of the roofing plant, John A. Craig, said the move would be made following adoption of an expansion program, and because of high freight charges between here and the mainland which total about $600,000 yearly.

He said the move would start early next year with gradual transfer to the new site at Burraby and a new $3,000,000 plant to be built there. Maintenance staff will follow, and a nucleus of clerical staff. But by hit other departments will make the change. "We have no schedule worked out yet," he said, "but the move will be completed by 1959."

Here are sample employee reactions: William Oliphant, 740 Newberry, roofing plant superintendent, said he viewed the move "with a certain amount of apprehension," but added he had always promised himself not to become so tied to a particular location he couldn't move away. "My wife likes the idea, and neither our two children or the two of us anticipate trouble settling in a new community. A sister of my wife lives there."

Jack McGrath, 658 Moss, shipping foreman, said "my wife likes the idea as she's a Vancouver girl. He's been employed with the company 10 years."

Miss Jean McCreath, typist, 181 Joseph, had no specific ideas on the move after six months with the company and only seven in Canada. "There's not much difference in the work wherever you are," she said.

Mrs. Kathleen Neligan, engineering office, 971 Duns-muir, said "I expect I'll be going over. It's a smart move on the company's part." She's been with the company six years, "off and on."

Robert Ferguson, batch pulp operator, 1741 Amphion, termed the situation "in the best interests of everybody in the organization. I've been nine years with Sidney Roofing. My wife likes the idea very much, and the three youngsters are pretty excited. No, I don't see any particular adjustment difficulties."

Bernard Keim, machine tester, with the organization eight years, said: "I don't intend going. I've a house here, and three children. My wife would rather stay in Victoria. It would also interrupt schooling of the children."

Leo Cross, 415 William, shipping helper, said "I'll go if my wife wants, but Vancouver is too big for me. Where would I hunt?" He's been four years with the firm.

Robert McLaughlin, 207 Newton, feeder engineer:

"I've been 14 years here. Even if we had six months to think about a move, we'd probably make up our minds at the last minute, for or against."

Heinz Rodman, paper box tester, 1260 McKenzie, said

"Yes, I'd go. My wife would like to move, even though it means selling our house. We're not worried at all. Our high school daughter wouldn't like to leave her friends here, but summed up general business reaction.

"Naturally it comes as a terrible blow. But it's a well-known axiom there's no sentiment in business, and the facts of the move speak for themselves."

Anybody here know how the expression "rabbit" originated?

I mean "rabbit" in reference to an article, such as a roast of beef or a pair of pliers, "liberated" from the clutches of the government and winding up in the private possession of a member of the services. Or perhaps a civilian worker. During the war, "rabbits" were common.

If anybody has the true story on the origin of "rabbits," please let me know. Meanwhile, perhaps this MIGHT be how the expression started circulating.

During the recent unpleasantness, a great many articles of varying values turned up missing at a certain dockyard on the East Coast.

The superintendent of dockyard became tired of such goings on, and, fearing he might one day have a battleship stolen, ordered extra security guards, who were told to search everyone passing outward through the gates.

This was done, and the pilfering slowed down considerably.

Then, one day, a stalwart character carrying a large bag appeared at the gate.

"What's in the bag?" asked the guard.

"A large, white rabbit," said the character. "Please do not open the bag, or he'll jump out and escape."

"A likely story," said the guard, opening the bag. And, sure enough, out jumped a large, white rabbit, who promptly hippity-hopped back toward the centre of the dockyard, pursued by the stalwart character, cursing profusely.

They disappeared from view, and about 30 minutes later, the character reappeared, clutching the bag and wiping perspiration from his brow.

"Caught the blighter," he panted. "For gosh sake, don't let him out again."

"Take your darn rabbit and get outa here," growled the guard.

So the stalwart character left with his bag which, of course, contained no rabbit.

Just a typewriter.

It may be old, and it may not be true, but I like it.

$5,000 FIRE DESTROYS 10 TV SETS

Blaze Originates In Test Machinery

Damage was estimated at close to $5,000 this morning when flames destroyed 10 new television sets and damaged other equipment in a workshop of Young & Banfield Radio Service, 794 Fort.

The fire broke out shortly before 8 a.m. at the rear of the premises situated at Fort and Blanshard.

Firemen quickly brought the blaze under control. It centred about testing equipment.

Equipment in the sales department of the store was not damaged.

Water and smoke damage was heavy in the workshop, and some appliances awaiting delivery were damaged.

No definite cause for the fire could be given by noon, but it was believed that a fault in wiring of the testing equipment, or one of the sets caused the blaze.

Some of the television sets were on test when the fire started.

David Banfield said he could give no definite estimate of loss, but said fire, water and smoke damage could run as high as $5,000.

Woman, Baby Hurt in Crash

Two children and a woman received minor injuries in traffic accidents Monday.

Mrs. Beverly Laverdue, 2829 Peatt, and her five-month-old son Allen were rushed to hospital after the car in which they were riding collided with a lumber carrier at Rock Bay and Mill at about 4 p.m.

Police said they were passengers in a car driven by Roger Laverdue, traveling south on Rock Bay and turning east on Mill.

The lumber carrier was turning north on Rock Bay from Mill. It was driven by P. E. Vancouver, 2241 Millstream Road.

Damage to the vehicles was not heavy.

Also treated at hospital was Kenneth Alfred Alexander, 10, 3356 Oak, after he was in collision with a car while running across Government at Cormorant.

The car, which was traveling south on Government, was driven by Donald H. French, 1274 Centre Road. Accident occurred at about 8:05 p.m.

NEW LIFE ON VANCOUVER ISLAND-GULF ISLANDS RUN will begin soon for veteran Motor Princess, now at VMD Bay Street plant for first phase of $200,000 rebuilding job. Ship's structure will be stripped off down to fenders (see arrow), and she'll be new ship, including machinery, from hull up.

68% Baby Death Rise Due to Prematurity

A 68 per cent increase in deaths of infants due to prematurity was recorded in Greater Victoria last year.

In her annual report on district health, Victoria-Esquamalt medical health officer Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy named prematurity as the largest single factor related to deaths of children in their first year.

The report was presented to a meeting of the Victoria-Esquamalt Health Board, but included figures from the district including Oak Bay, Saanich and provincial territories adjoining.

The infant death rate rose from 16.2 per thousand well babies to 23.5.

While live births increased from 1,349 to 1,542 over the same period, 72 infants died from all causes compared to 45 in 1954. Of these 32 died of prematurity compared to 19 the year before.

"Most groups of diseases in infancy are related to prematurity," the report added. "Why such a large number are born prematurely is not clearly understood."

Figures involving all ages showed greater Victoria's death rate increased from 12.1 to 13 per 1,000 of population. Of 1,560 deaths, 633 were due to heart disease, 269 to cancer, both showing increases over 1954.

New Mill Bay Ferry to Cost Over $100,000

Victoria Machinery Depot is low bidder for the new Brentwood-Mill Bay ferry, O. H. New, managing director of Coast Ferries Ltd., said here today.

Tenders from five yards were opened at noon Monday, and VMD's tender was $79,000, exclusive of machinery cost, which would bring the total well over $100,000.

The tenders will now be considered by the board of directors, Mr. New said, before contract is awarded.

Delivery date for the new, 120-foot ferry would be three months from date of placing the order.

When it is in commission, the Brentwood-Mill Bay service will be on a 30-minute basis, Mr. New said.

"We hoped to more than double the business by doubling the frequency," he said.

Gavin Mouat, president of the ferry company, said he hoped she will be ready for service by May 24.

Motor Princess is to be completely rebuilt from the hull up, at an initial cost of $100,000. Machinery and fitting out will require another $100,000.

DOUBLE-ENDER The present superstructure, which runs flush upward almost from the water line and gives Motor Princess her distinctive, easily-identifiable lines, will be stripped off. The ferry is to be made into a double-ender, for speedy loading and unloading.

She will have capacity for 30 to 40 cars, depending on size of the vehicles, and will be placed on a half-hourly service.

Motor Princess will replace the Cy Peck, which will be released for more frequent service in the "outer islands"—Galliano, Mayne, Pender and Saturna.

"We feel all the Gulf Islands will benefit greatly from the added service," Mr. Mouat said.

Gulf Island Ferry Company purchased Motor Princess from the CPR in January, 1955, after the CPR withdrew her from service as a cargo-carrier link with the mainland.

The ship was bought for her hull alone, which has been inspected and declared sound in every way by steamship inspection authorities.

Her present machinery will be removed, and replaced with new Fairbanks-Morse diesels.

Motor Princess was built by Yarrows Ltd. 32 years ago, at a cost of more than $1,000,000.

She was designed for the Sidney-Stevedore run. Her career as a passenger ship ended in 1950, when she was refitted as a passenger licence because of insufficient fire protection.

The CPR felt the necessary installations would be too expensive for the return earned by the ship, and she was refitted as a freight carrier, Victoria-Vancouver, until finally being retired in 1954 and sold in 1955.

Pretty, Pert 'n' Practical...
The Softest Spring Gloves

By PENNY SAVER

The prettiest and most versatile fashions are all—on hand. On your hands, and on the hands of all smart women who coordinate beautifully their ensembles and accessories—that's where you'll see the sparkling, colors, and oh-so-soft fabrics in this year's glove collection.

Of course, the darling of them all is of satiny kid, but with a terrific new practical touch. Chalk white, to blend with everything, is featured in the trim, shortie glove that is hand-stitched, and brought to the eye with fluted cuff and back interest. The practical touch comes in when you read the enclosed tag... they're washable as nylon, and the instructions for washing come right on that tag. These beauties are selling at $6.50.

So you've accessorized your spring ensemble with rich cafe lait shoes and purse. Well, let your gay scarf and hat carry the color, and team a pair of matching cafe lait kid gloves with your outfit. These are highlighted with a panel of kid braiding down the back, and are of a comfortable inch-over-wrist length. The price is $5.95.

It looks like suede, washes like nylon—but surprise—it's processed cotton! That's what these adorable shorties are made of. Their selling points are the soft as spring colors (yellow, pink and white), and the wrist hugging top. Shiny embroidery dots form a single column down the back for a perky note. These charmers are only $2.95 a pair.

Wonderful for this year's push-up sleeves are these shorter than three-quarter length white cotton gloves. They fit snugly at the wrist, and crumple softly to meet the cuff of your coat. Four tiny buttons line up along the small cuff. They'll go everywhere, with everything, for $4.95.

Polka dots are always cheery and are a perfect complement to a basic outfit. They give the note of color, and introduce the gay spot that may be repeated in your scarf or hat. White background and navy or red embroidered tiny coin dots are the fabric for these shorties. They're so short that they have a little insert of elastic at the front wrist to make sure they fit perfectly—always. They're yours for $3.95.

The care and keeping of these precious, hard wearing gloves, is your next thought. A special

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When we feel tense we are likely to feel it in our spine and especially in our neck. There are relaxing exercises which stretch the spine and are most restful. Today I want to give you a few simple ones.

1. Pretend that you are a cat stretching against the wall. Stand facing the wall. Put your hands on the wall. Reach up the wall with your hands, reaching as high as you possibly can. Keep reaching and stretching upward. Relax and remove hands from the wall. Repeat several times slowly.

2. Kneel on both knees. Place your hands on the floor in front of you. Push up toward the ceiling with the middle of your back. Hold for a few moments. Relax. The stretch through the spine will be delightfully restful.

3. Kneel on your knees and raise your arms upward overhead. Bend forward and place your fingertips on the floor as far in front of you as possible. Reach far forward. Now very slowly drag your fingertips lightly along the floor as you straighten your spine. Do this very slowly so that you feel as though you are straightening your spine one vertebra at a time. Arms return to overhead position. Repeat several times.

4. Stand tall with your feet separated. Bend at the waist. In fact, let your trunk and head drop forward like a rag doll. You should feel limp. While in this position bounce up and down a few times as though you had a spring in your back. Raise trunk and repeat.

5. Stand tall. Raise your arms upward as you rise high on your toes. Lower arms downward as your heels return to the floor. Breathe in deeply as you lower your arms and exhale as you raise them.

These five exercises make a grand routine to use when you feel tense because they are truly relaxing. They should be done slowly in a stretchy, lazy manner. You may find them valuable for relaxing just before going to sleep.

Career Girls Living in London
Find It Hard to Make Ends Meet

LONDON (CP)—British bachelor girls have a hard time trying to make ends meet when they come to the big city. It's easy to find a job but the salaries are small.

A really good secretary may earn as much as £10 a week but the average shorthand-typist — to use the common British term—draws between £5 and £9. Those who live away from home have little left after rent is paid, and many have to choose between eating well or dressing well. Most girls prefer a semi-starvation diet.

Canadian girls coming to London are often appalled at the low salaries offered. They usually bring a nest egg and can get along all right by themselves, but they feel sorry for their English girl friends.

LUCKY CANADIAN

"I just don't know how they do it," says 22-year-old Pat Coleman of Edmonton and Toronto. Miss Coleman is luckier than most. Her publicity job with a British film organization brings in £12 a week and she gets by nicely, sharing a £15-a-week room in Kensington with Peg Woods, a 23-year-old physiotherapist from Victoria.

'Nobody Believes My Hair Was Gray'

"It looks better than ever now, and I look so much younger! OLEX darkened my hair to its youthful, true color so gradually that even friends didn't suspect. Now it has fresh, natural lustre... so soft and manageable. OLEX is easy to use at home, costs very little."

Remember, OLEX acts gradually. For fast color change, INSTANT HARBOR gives professional results in an hour.

Spending Month in Victoria

FO and Mrs. E. F. MacLean and their two children are spending a month's holiday as guests of Mrs. MacLean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Walker, 915 Shirley Road. FO MacLean is stationed with the RCAF in Claresholm, Alta.

Helen Guzina Honored

Popular bride-elect, Miss Helen Guzina, whose marriage to Mr. Ronald Campion takes place in Nanaimo on March 31, has been feted at many parties recently. Miss Guzina and Mrs. G. Campion, mother of the groom-elect, traveled to Nanaimo on the weekend to attend a shower in the Union Hall. More than 70 guests attended the affair, at which a sit-down supper was served. Corsages were presented to the honor guest, Mrs. Campion and Mrs. R. Guzina, mother of the bride-elect.

Her sorority sisters of Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, honored Miss Guzina at a shower at the home of Miss Jackie Quest, Pinewood Street. Gifts were contained in a decorated umbrella. Lace-covered refreshment table was centred by a china wheelbarrow filled with daffodils, and a cake iced with the words: "Best Wishes for Future Happiness, Helen." A gift of sterling silver candlesticks was presented to the honor guest, with a corsage of baby orchids and yellow rosebuds. Guests included Mrs. Meryl Bennett, Mrs. Doris Gibbs, Mrs. June Morey, Mrs. Barbara Paterson, Mrs. Pat Davies, Mrs. Dorothy Gemmell, Mrs. Joan Jasper, Mrs. Shirley Lewis, Mrs. Flo Gurney and Misses Joan Houghton, Isabel Elliot and Maureen Quigg.

Miss Guzina was also honored at a miscellaneous shower last evening, at the home of Miss K. Dixon, 448 Admirals Road. Corsage of pale yellow roses was presented to the honor guest, and Mrs. Campion received a gardenia. Refreshments were served from a table centred by a silver bowl of red carnations flanked by pale turquoise candles in silver holders. Invited guests included Mrs. T. Dixon, Mrs. Maurice Clark, Mrs. B. Johnson, Mrs. Sylvia Castner, Mrs. George Rerick, and Misses Terry French, Blanche Brown, Doreen Forbes, Jackie Quest, Beverley Walker and Cathy McKay.

Luncheon at Union Club

Mrs. A. H. S. Black will entertain on Wednesday at a luncheon in the Union Club when the honor guest will be Mrs. W. W. Lewis. Covers will be laid for 10.

A Holiday in Alberta

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas J. Hunter and their two children, Jimmy and Danna, have returned to their Uplands Road home after a vacation in Alberta. They spent some time at Banff, where they attended the Winter Carnival, and visited in Calgary.

A Christening

The seven-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dyck, 1117 McLure Street, was christened recently in St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill. Canon F. Pike baptized the baby Deborah Ann. Godparents are Mrs. W. Henson and Mr. William Lehman. Paternal grandmother is Mrs. John G. Dueck of Hague, Sask., and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McManus, Los Angeles, Calif.

Margaret Truman Says Wedding Day in April

NEW YORK (AP) — Displaying Miss Truman answering a few promptly at modest questions, Son of a Zeppelin, N.C. faire, Margaret Truman said Monday that she and newspaper man Clifton Daniel will be married some time in April.

Two hours after former president Harry S. Truman had announced his only child's engagement, Margaret and her fiancé met the press here in a public room of the Hotel Carlyle, where she lives.

Miss Truman, 32, said there will be "a small, quiet wedding with the two families" at Trinity Episcopal church in Independence, Mo. The wedding date has not yet been fixed. There will be no "big, white, formal bridal gown," either, Miss Truman continued, because "I never like that kind of thing."

Daniel, 43, an assistant to the foreign news editor of the New York Times and a former European correspondent, sat beside

IODE Chapter Favors Fluorides

Members of Sidney's HMS Endeavour Chapter, IODE, went on record at their last meeting as being in favor of the fluoridation of Sidney water and voted that the district health council be so notified.

Mrs. J. Gray presided and treasurer Mrs. R. J. McLellan reported a balance of $114. A sum of $24.77 was collected by the chapter for the Solarium Shower of Dimes and $25 was voted for services at home and abroad. Convener of this committee, Mrs. S. Grist, reported a food parcel sent to a pensioner in England.

The chapter has undertaken sponsorship of the Red Cross medical loan cupboard again this year, and Mrs. J. Bell reported four more articles contributed by Vancouver supply headquarters.

The year's program, including a fashion show and tea, bridge parties and annual party for local senior citizens, was discussed and Mrs. Gray and the standard bearer, Miss Jean Christie, named delegates to the provincial annual meeting in April.

BABY BOY CHRISTENED

Eighteen-month-old Allan Douglas Angus with his mother, Mrs. A. D. Angus. He was christened recently in First United Church with Rev. McElroy Thompson officiating. A tea followed at the home of his parents on the Malahat, where the baby's aunt, Mrs. John Johnson and Mrs. Derek Cove assisted in serving the 30 guests. The little boy's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vance Angus of the Malahat Chalet and his maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ivings of Victoria.

Navy League Chapter Makes Donations

At a meeting of Navy League Chapter, IODE, members voted to donate $50 to Commonwealth and Empire work in India. Baby garments, valued at $14, were turned into the Municipal Chapter for shipment overseas and $250 was donated to the Mary Croft Memorial at Queen Alexandra Solarium.

Arrangements were made for the chapter to make a tour and have a luncheon at Weston's Bakeries in May. Mrs. J. Cummings and Mrs. F. Durick were welcomed and introduced as new members by Mrs. W. F. Mawdsley, regent.

29th Birthday Celebrated With Banquet

Mrs. B. Ripley cut the birthday cake at a banquet in the Blue Room on View street, arranged to celebrate the 29th birthday of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Pro Patria Branch, Canadian Legion, BESL. More than 50 members were present and guest of honor was Mrs. P. Ricketts, the auxiliary's honorary president.

Following the banquet, 25-year pins were presented by Mrs. Ricketts to Mrs. J. J. Morris and Mrs. H. Hodge. Pianist for a sing-song was Mrs. A. J. Harrison, assisted by Mrs. N. Wooten. Contest and bingo were arranged by Mrs. L. Bridgeman and Mrs. E. J. Thomas.

MARK CITY'S 113TH BIRTHDAY

Members of Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, IODE, have arranged a tea to commemorate Victoria's 113th birthday. The affair will take place on Thursday in the Orange Hall, 725 Courtney Street, commencing at 3 p.m.

Local Council of Women Review Unemployment Insurance Act

Miss M. E. J. Bruce reviewed and reported on the study of the revision of the Unemployment Insurance Act Monday afternoon at the meeting of Local Council of Women. The scale, requirements and method of procuring unemployment insurance today was compared to the act as it was when framed in 1940.

At the meeting, Mrs. E. L. Johns, president, was in the chair. The housing aspect of the Local Council's main project was discussed, with one of the members telling of a small community of aged people being formed on Salt Spring Island.

Many Guests Attend Altrusa Club Tea

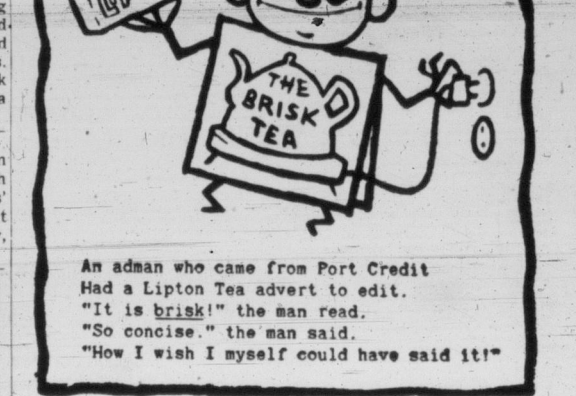

More than 100 guests attended an afternoon tea at the Old Charming Inn, given recently by Victoria Altrusa Club to aid the Founders' Fund Vocational Aid Project. Tables were decorated with spring blossoms in containers decorated in the club's colors of blue and white. They were made by Mrs. Grace Morrow, president. A talk on beauty care was given by Eva Cannon.

90-MINUTE EGYPT-ISRAEL DOCUMENTARY ON C-11 AT 8.30

BY PHIL LEE Times TV, Movie Editor

WEEKEND COMMENT—Depending upon district reception, Sir Laurence Olivier's adaptation of "Richard III," Sunday, must have thrilled viewers all over the continent, particularly everywhere Shakespeare is loved and understood. For measured against the most exacting yardstick, the three-hour motion picture should be considered a classic, a film that can take its place on the pinnacle beside Olivier's "Hamlet" and "Henry V."

An interesting thought, however, is what will the reaction be when the British film is released to the motion picture theatres? Will those who have seen it on TV wish to see it again on the big screen? J. Arthur Rank obviously has gambled much that they will.

Channel 4: Milton Berle hosts Arnold Stang and Denise Dancel on his hour-long show.

Channel 11 and 12: TV's fast-rising comedian Phil Silvers is seen as Master Sgt. Bilko in "Furlough in New York." It seems that Bilko and his girl friend want to take their leaves in the big city but unknown to each other.

Channel 11: For 90 minutes Edward R. Murrow takes his viewers through the Middle East in a documentary on Egypt-Israel. While Murrow handles the interviews in Israel (one is with Premier David Ben-Gurion), Howard K. Smith, chief CBS European reporter, will look after them in Egypt.

Channel 5: Wyatt Earp looks into the background of a man known as a "respected citizen."

Channel 12: The I Spy drama is called "The Four," about how, in 1942, a U-boat lands four Germans on Long Island.

Channel 2: Dragnet sees policemen Friday and Smith tracking down a series of robberies. Their only clue is a single foot print.

Channel 4: Jane Wyman shows "Scent of Roses." A beau returns after being years away to the girl he left behind. But her younger sister proves more attractive.

Channel 5: Danny Thomas is inconsolable as daughter Terry accepts her first date with a boy.

Channel 2: The Canadian talent hunt—Pick the Stars.

Channel 4: Playwrights '56 presents the hour-long drama, "Adam and Evening." A lonely widower lives alone with his memories and a pet cat.

Channel 5: Cavalcade Theatre presents "Breakfast at Nancy's," wherein Nancy Hart hides a friend of her husband's from the British.

Channel 2: Citizen's Forum: "Does mass education produce mediocrity?"

Channel 5: In the Man Called X, Ken Thurston finds a threat to U.S. freedom.

Channel 12: In the Pendulum, a hubby overhears his wife admitting love for a younger man.

Island effort for trade, industry and prosperity.

Alderman Geoff Edgelow of Victoria tried to stir up the feud idea as a preliminary to a proposed meeting of municipal and provincial officials and boards of trade in Duncan to discuss general betterment for the Island.

"Feud with Victoria? Not a bit of it," Mayor Westwood said today. "Relations between the two cities have always been excellent. We have no time for that kind of thing with a serious matter like the welfare of the whole island to consider."

Mayor Scurrell said:
"Sure—I'll bury a hatchet," he said. "It's horseplay that will draw attention to the business of everyone on Vancouver Island working toward one objective."

"We will all gain if the whole Island works for the common good," Mayor Scurrell added.

"We have the same disadvantages, but we all have the same advantages too," he said. "If we can draw attention to our selves as a unit, then we will all benefit eventually."

He spoke in favor of light industry—"freight rates between here and the mainland would not be a major factor in such activity," he said—and the advantage of attracting retired persons.

"They don't spend much, but if you get enough of them you have a new industry," he said.
"They would all be assets to the Island."

Mayor Westwood said:
"Nanaimo is the transportation centre of the Island. So whatever happens to the north or south of us will be reflected in our economy. It is certainly to our advantage to stimulate development anywhere on Vancouver Island."

Mayor Jack Dobson of Duncan has offered that city's Totem Pole Park for the hatchet display, and says his city will befit both ways.

Board Planning 96-Bed Solarium Tenders To Be Called June 1 For Bigger Gordon Head Plant

New Queen Alexandra Solarium at Gordon Head will probably contain 96 beds rather than the 64 originally planned, the Solarium Society annual meeting was told Monday.

In his report to society members, board of directors president Justin V. Harbord said, "It is probable the larger hospital will be built. Construction will probably start in mid-summer, and we expect that in the following spring the dream of our new modern building will become a reality."

The earlier plan was to construct the building in such a way as to make possible a later expansion to 96 beds.

Mr. Harbord's remarks were seconded by D. J. Lawson, honorary treasurer, who in his report said:

"It is entirely possible that we may build the 96-bed hospital rather than the 60-bed hospital."

TENDERS JUNE 1

Directors hope to call for tenders by June 1 for construction of the $929,000 hospital, the president said.

He drew attention to the fact that British Columbians, in voluntary subscriptions, donated more than half a million dollars to the building fund in 1955.

The total, consisting of $456,932 in cash and $33,180 in pledges, comes to $530,112.

FINANCES

Mr. Lawson told the meeting that the prime concern of the directors must be to maintain operating revenue to match expenditures. Total income for the year was $179,931.69; total expenditure $215,467.12. Deficit for the past year was nearly $45,000, the treasurer said, compared with $30,000 in 1954. Funds to meet the deficit had been transferred from the revenue fund surplus, leaving the reserve at $19,000, down from $34,000 at the end of 1954.

Revenue from donations, $63,772.77, was down $8,000 from 1954, while expenditures had increased by $11,000. An additional 1,000 days of patient care, increased wage and fuel costs, plus heavy repairs and maintenance on the old Mill Bay building, accounted for the growth in expenditures.

Total patient-days of treatment were 14,269, at an average cost of $15.08 a day, 38c a day less than in 1954.

NO DECREASE SEEN

Mr. Lawson said no possibility of a decrease in total expenditures could be seen for 1956 or subsequent years.

Hospital administrator John Holdstock said "well over 2,000" patients have been treated at the Solarium since it was opened in 1927 and that from June to Dec. 31, 1955, mainland patients were given 35,170 patient days of treatment and Island children 34,269 patient days of care.

During the year, 18 post acute polio cases were treated, compared with 30 in 1954.

"Such patients will of course continue to require treatment, for it will be a long time before the new vaccines will be available to all age groups."

ELECTIONS

The meeting elected Lieut. Gov. Frank Ross honorary president to replace former Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace, and added the names of Mrs. C. W. Nicol and Charles Williams to the list of honorary vice-presidents in perpetuity.

Already on that list are E. W. McMullen, Mrs. H. E. Tyrrell and F. E. Winslow.

Named as honorary vice-presidents were Premier W. A. C. Bennett, health minister Eric

WHAT PRICE CHILDREN'S TEETH?

"Pop, do I get fillings for half price, like on the bus or train, or at the movies?"

"No, son, and probably Doctor Dent sometimes thinks he should charge double, instead of half."

"Why, Pop? It shouldn't cost so much for little baby teeth, should it?"

Junior's question deserves an answer, for many people, like Junior, do not realize that the dentist's most trying and difficult work is often performed for children.

Children are frequently restless, and their inability to cooperate calls for much greater effort and time than should be required for the average operation.

Often they are late, or forgetful of appointments—of course, they never deliberately miss them! Many such factors may result in loss of valuable time for the dentist and his assistant.

In some circumstances, as when slight surface cavities appear toward the end of life of a "baby" or foundation tooth, less costly fillings may serve. But in almost all cases, cavities found in the first set of teeth must be built to full size and form, and that can only be accomplished by using the best methods and the strongest metal fillings.

If full size and form is not restored, some of the space being kept for underlying permanent teeth will be lost, leaving insufficient room for them to come through in normal position.

Such crowding usually results in irregularities that may produce serious trouble in later years.

In summary, then, frequently more time is required for fillings and other dental operations for children than for adults; there is no basic difference in methods used, nor in quality and quantity of materials and, therefore, the actual cost of such services for Junior may often be greater, rather than less, than for Mom and Pop.

But Junior's dental costs can be cut, and drastically, too, in many cases. How? By regular visits to the dentist and punctual keeping of appointments; by lower consumption of sweets and good food habits, and particularly by routine and thorough brushing, immediately after eating.

TUESDAY, MARCH 20 FEDERAL BUDGET DATE

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Harris announced today he will present his annual budget to the Commons on Tuesday evening, March 20.

It will be the second budget presented by Mr. Harris since he took over the portfolio in 1954.

Gross Output Hits Record $26.6 Billion

National Production in 1955
Gained $2.5 Billion Over 1954

OTTAWA (BUP)—The gross national product—value of all goods and services produced by Canadians—hit a record $26,600,000,000 last year compared with $24,100,000,000 in 1954, the Bureau of Statistics said today.

"All segments of consumer outlays showed increases, with a major advance recorded in the durable goods group. Per capita consumption of durable goods was 40 per cent above the year 1949.

"Accompanying this advance in the consumer sector, residential construction outlays showed a sharp rise in 1955, with a gain of $300,000,000 or about 25 per cent. This increase reflected both the sharp rise in personal incomes as well as the ready availability of mortgage funds.

"Consumer outlays and housing expenditures together accounted for more than one-half of the increase in gross national expenditure in 1955."

"Exports of goods and services, which had declined in 1954, recovered strongly last year. They rose by $600,000,000 or 11 per cent.

"This strength in foreign demand for Canadian goods and services was associated with marked recovery of business activity in the United States and the rising level of activity in overseas countries," the bureau said.

"Several important expansionary factors contributed to the $2,500,000,000 growth in output over the course of the year 1955. Of primary importance was the rise in personal expenditure on consumer goods and services, which led the advance in final purchases with a gain of $1,000,000,000.

"Business outlays for plant, machinery and equipment absorbed $300,000,000 of the $2,500,000,000 increase. Additional expansionary factors in 1955 were government outlays for goods and services, which rose by $3,000,000,000; the larger grain crop, which contributed another $300,000,000 to the gain; and the swing in business inventories from liquidation in 1954 to net accumulation in 1955, amounting to some $400,000,000.

"Accompanying the developments on the production side, both personal and business incomes continued to expand. They reflected for the most part advances in wages and salaries and in investment income, including corporation profits.

No Political Tie for CLC Says Telegram

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says the constitution to be submitted at the founding convention of the Canadian Labor Congress here next month will reflect a non-partisan political policy.

The newspaper says overcoming widely divergent political policies was the toughest obstacle to a merger between the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor.

The CLC has repeatedly rejected attempts to have it endorse the CCF, as the CCL does.

The Telegram says Point 12 of the new organization's constitution reads: "While preserving the independence of the labor movement from political control, to encourage workers to vote, to exercise their full rights and responsibilities of citizenship, and to perform their rightful part in the political life of the federal, provincial and municipal governments."

'Galloping Major' Gallops To British Jail for 9 Years

LONDON (Reuters)—An impeccably dressed Briton who once duped soldiers of the Irish Republic into a toast to Queen Elizabeth was sentenced today to nine years in prison for theft.

To his society friends, 34-year-old Michael Woodfall was known as a dashing army major with clipped military accent who threw lavish parties at the Ritz and always had a beautiful escort on his arm.

To the police, the man dubbed the "Galloping Major" was known as a confidence trickster and ex-convict who made 11 court appearances in the last 15 years.

Actually, Woodfall came from a wealthy family. He tried to make a new start in life five months after emerging from Dartmouth prison when his rich uncle bought a hotel and installed him as manager.

His downfall came when he fell in love with his secretary, ordered more than $6,000 worth of jewelry for her and fled to Dublin with part of it—a clip worth $35.

Detectives located him in a Cork, Ireland, hospital where he had been taken after trying to commit suicide.

In Dublin, Woodfall raised $280 by pawning the diamond clip. He turned up at the barracks of an Irish regiment, introduced himself as "Colonel Sir Patrick Murphy" of the Royal Horse Guards and after a drinking session, got the Irishmen to toast the Queen.

Questions about the toast were asked in the Irish parliament, where members are opposed to Britain's continued control of Northern Ireland.

RCMP Talked to Eversfield On Details of Sturdy Case

FIRST TEST OF STRENGTH

Top Democratic contenders for U.S. presidency, Estes Kefauver (left), and Adlai Stevenson, test their voting strength for the first time in today's New Hampshire primaries. First returns give Stevenson meagre edge although he is not officially candidate for control of New Hampshire delegation to national convention, nor did he campaign against official nominee, Kefauver. Division of New Hampshire Democratic delegation is predicted. President Eisenhower is shoo-in for Republican delegation.

New Riots Sweep Cyprus, Greece

LONDON (UP)—Britain tonight demanded an explanation from the United States for its expression of sympathy to the Greek government over the critical Cyprus question.

(Times News Service)

British troops today went into action at Nicosia, Cyprus, with clubs swinging against demonstrators as new strikes spread through the Mediterranean island in protest against the banishment of Archbishop Makarios. At Athens, Greece, 50 civilians and 11 policemen were injured in fierce new anti-British demonstrations.

Chief Dies in Fire

HALIBURTON, Ont. (CP)—Fire Chief Thomas Chambers died early today from smoke suffocation while fighting an all-night blaze that destroyed a bank and a dime store in this village, 80 miles north of Peterborough.

Sinclair Coming West

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Fisheries Minister James Sinclair will arrive in Vancouver Friday for a three-week visit to British Columbia.

Both Sinclair and Defence Minister Ralph Campney will attend the B.C. Liberal Association executive meeting on Saturday.

Reds Buy U.K. Drugs

LONDON (AP)—Britain is sending two tons of pentothal—an anaesthetic sometimes used as a "truth drug"—behind the Iron Curtain. Arrangements for shipment to Prague were disclosed at London airport.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd arrived here today on the last leg of a Middle East tour.

Lloyd's visit coincided with reports in Jerusalem that Israel may open a "direct peace offensive" on the Arab states in hopes of preventing a Middle East war.

Coward Quits U.K.

LONDON (AP)—Noel Coward, 56, actor, author, producer and composer, is giving up his native England for the warm climes of Bermuda and Jamaica, his personal representative said tonight.

Eisenhower Atom Program Gets Under Way

'Heavy Water' Shipments Start

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today announced the first shipment abroad of heavy water under President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program.

The AEC said it has approved the sale of 129 tons of heavy water to six nations and that 16 tons of this had been shipped—11 tons to Britain and five to France. The sales price was $28 a pound, AEC said.

Heavy water is used in several types of reactors, or atomic furnaces, to slow the speed of neutrons emitted in splitting of atoms of the fissionable U-235.

These total amounts were approved for sale: United Kingdom 50 tons, France 30, India 21, Australia 11, Italy 10, Switzerland up to seven.

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters)—U.S. state secretary John Foster Dulles and Thailand's foreign minister, Prince Wan Wattayakon today signed an agreement for U.S. aid to Thailand in the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The agreement covered cooperation in civilian uses of atomic energy and the establishment of an experimental atomic reactor in Thailand.

Dulles said at the signing ceremony that Thailand and the United States had "forged yet another link in their partnership for peace for human well-being."

Prince Wan said "we are deeply grateful for this assistance and gladly accept it in the spirit in which it is offered, for we know that no sinister motive lies behind it."

Blast Kills Family of Four

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP)—A man, his wife and their two children were killed today in an explosion and fire in their home, near here.

Firemen said the explosion occurred while the father was cleaning a motor with naphtha.

The victims were identified as Victor Parizeau, 34; his wife, 32, and their sons, Andre, 3, and Marcel, 2.

Libel Suit Throttles Comment Says Paper

VANCOUVER—The Sun says in an editorial today: "News of an editorial today: 'News of what may be the biggest scandal in B.C.'s recent political history is bottled up by a Supreme Court decision written out by R. E. Sommers, M.L.A., minister of lands and forests in the B.C. government."

"This government declines to break the bottle and submit its contents to investigation by a royal commission. But it has permitted Mr. Sommers to resign his cabinet portfolio. When or whether the contents will be aired is left up to him. His next move, if any, is to set down for trial his slander suit against David Sturdy."

"In the meantime, newspapers are barred from publishing documents on file at the courthouse containing Mr. Sturdy's defence. In them Mr. Sturdy, the Vancouver lawyer who tried unsuccessfully to submit evidence before the Sloan commission, pleads that he had qualified privilege to appear there and that his allegations are true."

California Flight Disclosed; Demands For Probe Renewed

RCMP Inspector W. J. Butler paid a flying visit to California to interview the "mystery witness" in the Sommers-Sturdy case, the Times learned today.

Inspector Butler spent two days discussing the Sturdy charges with former Vancouver accountant Charles Eversfield, who is now living in the U.S.

This development in the Sturdy-Sommers controversy was disclosed following renewed demands by Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, and retiring CCF Leader Arnold Webster for a full-scale public judicial inquiry in to the case.

Mr. Eversfield has been described as the informant, who handed what the so-called Sturdy evidence over to Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy.

Inspector Butler was ordered into the case by Attorney-General Robert Bonner, after a storm of opposition protest at Bonner's refusal to show up on the charges.

Mr. Eversfield met with the Attorney-General and Mr. Sturdy on Dec. 7, and presented Mr. Bonner with a sworn declaration concerning Mr. Sommers.

The Attorney-General refused Mr. Sturdy's request to order a Royal Commission of inquiry to investigate the charges made in the sworn declaration.

In a wire to Mr. Sturdy, the Attorney-General said the allegations contained in the declaration "fill me with profound skepticism," particularly in view of the Vancouver Centre by-election pending at that time.

Inspector Butler flew both to and from California. His visit was cloaked in official secrecy. RCMP officials have declined all comment on the case.

It is not known what aspects of the issue were discussed by the inspector and Mr. Eversfield.

'War of Nerves' Charged Premier

Meanwhile Liberal Leader Laing and Mr. Webster Monday repeated their demands for a judicial inquiry, following Premier Bennett's "no comment" statement after he returned from Ottawa.

Mr. Webster said the charges against Mr. Sommers, and Mr. Sommers' counter-charges that he was the object of an attack backed by a "wealth-financed conspiracy," must "be fully aired at a judicial inquiry."

Mr. Laing said the premier "is waging a war of nerves."

"In his present predicament, his only responsibility is to clear his government of charges made against it," said Mr. Laing.

In a speech to the Chilliwack Riding Liberal Association, the Liberal leader traced the entire Sturdy-Sommers controversy from the Dec. 7 meeting in the attorney-general's office.

"The Attorney-General, confronted with a statutory declaration on December 7, consulted Sommers, and then wired Sturdy that he was full of skepticism and disbelief," said Mr. Laing.

"The charges might have been under cover yet had Sturdy not gone before the Sloan Commission and made them public."

"Then an attempt was made to put them under the run by a relatively innocuous action of Sommers against Sturdy, claiming slander."

"All this time, Sommers stayed on as minister of lands and forests," said the Liberal leader.

He mentioned the RCMP investigation, and stated "This is perhaps the only known case in a democracy where one minister set the police to investigate a colleague still sitting with him in office."

"Out of the 'mass of evidence' said to be available, only one small item is again available," said Mr. Laing.

"This is because George Gregory, M.L.A. for Victoria, said he had some material not related to the Sturdy case—namely photostats of tickets, itineraries, and hotel bills, which suggests that (a Vancouver firm) which services licences holders paid $1,250 for four tickets to Eastern Canada for Mr. Sommers and his party at the end of October, 1953."

This referred to a charge by Mr. Sommers that a Liberal and Victoria Times-backed conspiracy was working to discredit him as minister, and to destroy government forest legislation.

He said the "conspiracy was backed by 'cut and get out' loggers."

"All the time the opposition was pressing for one thing only," said Mr. Laing. "The setting up of a judicial investigation to prove or disprove the charges."

He said the charges against Mr. Sommers "constitute the most serious attack upon the integrity of a government in the history of this province."

"The premier, every member of his cabinet, and every Social Credit member of the legislature must share the responsibility of denying the public the right to have the facts and have them quickly," Mr. Laing told the meeting.

"Every reputable businessman will join in our insistence," for a full inquiry, he said.

"Only a judicial inquiry will suffice," he said. "Premier Bennett, if he places any value upon his personal integrity let alone that of his government, must act at once."

He said that "over this affair, never have we had such conclusive proof of the imperious necessity of a free press."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

LORD, teach us that the real test of strength is not in the victory, but in bearing the burden, in fighting the good fight. In Thy work is our real test, and we thank Thee for the power to endure and the faith that bears us up through Jesus Christ, Amen.

It was believed the greatest such killing in a single accident in Oregon history.

Separate Tax Deals
Ruled Out by PM

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Prime Minister St. Laurent informed the Commons Tuesday it was not the federal government's intention to negotiate separate tax sharing agreements with each province on a different basis.

The negotiations carried on by the federal government had been designed to try and find a formula that could be made applicable to all the provinces, he pointed out.

The prime minister gave the House the assurance that there would be no separate deals on a different basis with any province.

RCMP Inspector
Saw Eversfield
On Sturdy Case

Paid Flying Visit to California;
Demands for Inquiry Renewed

RCMP Inspector W. J. Butler paid a flying visit to California to interview the "mystery witness" in the Sommers-Sturdy case, the Times learned today.

Inspector Butler spent two days discussing the Sturdy charges with former Vancouver accountant Charles Eversfield, who is now living in the U.S.

This development in the Sturdy-Sommers controversy was disclosed following renewed demands by Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, and retiring CCF Leader Arnold Webster for a full-scale public judicial inquiry in to the case.

Mr. Eversfield has been described as the informant, who handed the so-called Sturdy evidence over to Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy.

Inspector Butler was ordered into the case by Attorney-General Robert Bonner, after a storm of opposition protest at Bonner's refusal to follow up on the charges.

Mr. Eversfield met with the Attorney-General and Mr. Sturdy on Dec. 7, and presented Mr. Bonner with a sworn declaration concerning Mr. Sommers.

The Attorney-General refused Mr. Sturdy's request to order a Royal Commission of inquiry to investigate the charges made in the sworn declaration.

The Attorney-General said the allegations contained in the declaration "fill me with profound skepticism," particularly in view of the Vancouver Centre by-election pending at that time.

Inspector Butler flew both to and from California. His visit was clothed in official secrecy.

RCMP officials have declined all comment on the case.

It is not known what aspects of the issue were discussed by the inspector and Mr. Eversfield.

Comment Says Paper

VANCOUVER—The Sun says, in an editorial today, "News of what may be the biggest scandal in B.C.'s recent political history is bottled up by a Supreme Court slander writ taken out by R. E. Sommers, M.L.A., ex-minister of lands and forests in the B.C. government."

"This government declines to break the bottle and submit its contents to investigation by a royal commission. But it has permitted Mr. Sommers to reinstate his cabinet portfolio. When

FIRST TEST OF STRENGTH

Top Democratic contenders for U.S. presidency, Estes Kefauver (left), and Adlai Stevenson, test their vote-drawing strength for the first time in today's New Hampshire primaries. First returns give Stevenson meagre edge although he is not officially candidate for control of New Hampshire delegation to national convention, nor did he campaign against official nominee, Kefauver. Division of New Hampshire Democratic delegation is predicted. President Eisenhower is shoo-in for Republican delegation control.

Gross Output
Hits Record

OTTAWA (BUP) — The gross national product — value of all goods and services produced by Canadians — hit a record $26,600,000,000 last year compared with $24,100,000,000 in 1954, the Bureau of Statistics said today.

"The year witnessed a sharp recovery from the mild contraction in economic activity which had characterized the period mid-1953 to mid-1954," the bureau said.

The output of goods and services expanded rapidly in 1955 from a gradual rise in the latter part of 1954. The total for the year as a whole was about 10 per cent above 1954's.

"With final product prices relatively stable, this increase reflected almost entirely an expansion in the volume of production, which showed the largest gain of any single post-war year," the bureau said. "By the end of 1955, gross national product, seasonally adjusted, was running at a rate 11 per cent above the peak third quarter of 1953 in value terms."

"Several important expansionary factors contributed to the $2,500,000,000 growth in output over the course of the year 1955. Of primary importance was the rise in personal expenditure on consumer goods and services, which led the advance in final purchases with a gain of $1,000,000,000."

All segments of consumer outlays showed increases, with a major advance recorded in the durable goods group. Per capita consumption of durable goods was 40 per cent above the year 1949.

"Accompanying this advance in the consumer sector, residential construction outlays showed a sharp rise in 1955, with a gain of $300,000,000 or about 25 per cent. This increase reflected both the sharp rise in personal incomes as well as the ready availability of mortgage funds."

"Consumer outlays and housing expenditures together accounted for more than one-half of the increase in gross national expenditure in 1955."

Exports of goods and services, which had declined in 1954, recovered strongly last year. They rose by $600,000,000 or 11 per cent.

"This strength in foreign demand for Canadian goods and services was associated with marked recovery of business activity in the United States and the rising level of activity in overseas countries," the bureau said.

The bulk of the gain in exports was in wood and wood products, iron and steel, and non-ferrous metals. Declines occurred in the agricultural products group.

Business outlays for plant, machinery and equipment absorbed $300,000,000 of the $2,500,000,000 increase. Additional expansionary factors in 1955 were government outlays for goods and services, which rose by $300,000,000; the larger grain crop, which contributed another $300,000,000 to the gain; and the swing in business inventories from liquidation in 1954 to net accumulation in 1955, amounting to some $400,000,000.

Accompanying the developments on the production side, both personal and business incomes continued to expand.

Washington 'Sympathy'
Shocks London; Troops
Club Rioters on Island

LONDON (Reuters)—The British government has instructed its ambassador in Washington to ask the State Department for an explanation of a statement issued by the United States Embassy in Athens today expressing "sympathetic concern" to Greece over Cyprus.

A foreign office announcement said:

"Instructions have been sent to Her Majesty's ambassador in Washington to ask the state department for an explanation of the statement issued by the United States Embassy in Athens this afternoon."

"This statement is reported to have set out the views on the Cyprus problem conveyed to the Greek foreign minister by the United States ambassador."

A U.S. embassy release in Athens said that U.S. Ambassador Cavendish Cannon today expressed to Greek foreign minister Spiros Theotokis "the sympathetic concern of the United States government and the American people over recent developments in Cyprus."

Cannon also took "particular note of the dignity and statesmanship with which the Greek government had dealt with the current situation," the embassy release said.

Eisenhower
Atom Program
Gets Under Way'Heavy Water'
Shipments Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission today announced the first shipment abroad of heavy water under President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace program.

The AEC said it has approved the sale of 129 tons of heavy water to six nations and that 16 tons of this had been shipped — 11 tons to Britain and five to France. The sales price was $28 a pound, AEC said.

Heavy water is used in several types of reactors, or atomic furnaces, to slow the speed of neutrons emitted in splitting of atoms of the fissionable U-235.

These total amounts were approved for sale:

United Kingdom 50 tons, France 30, India 21, Australia 11, Italy 10, Switzerland up to seven.

BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters) — U.S. state secretary John Foster Dulles and Thailand's foreign minister, Prince Wan Wathayakorn today signed an agreement for U.S. aid to Thailand in the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The agreement covered cooperation in civilian uses of atomic energy and the establishment of an experimental atomic reactor in Thailand.

Dulles said at the signing ceremony that Thailand and the United States had "forged yet another link in their partnership for peace for human well-being."

Prince Wan said "we are deeply grateful for this assistance, and gladly accept it in the spirit in which it is offered, for we know that no sinister motive lies behind it."

Earlier today, Prime Minister Eden told his cabinet he will make a personal defence of his Cyprus policy in a major parliamentary debate Wednesday.

At London, Prime Minister Eden today told his cabinet that he will make a personal defence of his Cyprus policy in a major parliamentary debate Wednesday.

Eden's chief adversary in the debate will be Aneurin Bevan, the Labor party's most controversial figure.

On Cyprus, British troops cleared Metaxas Square in Nicosia, where one of the largest riots took place. Two other charges were made outside the Phaneromeni cathedral, where youths were stoning army vehicles, and near the Olympic stadium.

Bert Thomas Mystifies Doctors,
New Cold-Water Tests Scheduled

LACOMA (AP)—The amazing body reactions of distance swimmer Bert Thomas still reeling a partial mystery to doctors today following the former frogman's dip in frigid Puget Sound Monday.

Thomas, who earlier underwent two tests at the University of Washington, Monday took part in the third and final test to determine changes in his rate of metabolism.

Dr. Loren Carlson of the U of W medical school said today he and Dr. Arnold Hsieh were not able to determine Thomas's change in metabolism while swimming Monday.

Carlson said Thomas was forced to spend fairly long periods idle in the water Monday, and was never able to get into his "full stroke."

Adjustments of sensitive equipment had to be made while Thomas lay idle in the bitterly cold 41-degree water, Carlson said, and this may have hampered the former logger from hitting his full stroke.

Re-runs of the earlier tests are scheduled to begin in a week, Carlson said, and the final swimming test will probably be held after that.

The earlier tests disclosed Thomas's body temperature remained normal after he was immersed in a tank of 60-degree water for 30 minutes.

Thomas said he could also slow his own heart beat from, for instance, 77 a minute to 60 a minute in about 90 seconds.
